FOR A NEEDED REST

The President-Blect Leaves for the Mountains.

WHERE OFFICE SEEKERS CAN'T BOTHER

Mr. Cleveland Gratified by the Thousands of Letters

CONGRATULATING HIM ON HIS SUCCESS

But Says He Has Received Thousands of Others Asking for Positions, Which the Waste Basket Will Catch.

New York, November 22 .- President elect Cleveland left today in search of a much-needed rest. Since the election he had been fairly overrun with callers and the volume of his correspondence has been something enormous. A reporter of the United Press called on Mr. Cleve-land this morning. The president elect's appearance indicated somewhat the fatigue consequent upon his labors and the confinement to which he has been subjected. In speaking of the absolute necessity of relief from the annoyance and exactions which are his daily lot at home he said

"I have been amazed and exceedingly gratified by the thousands of letters of congratulation, which I have received since the election from the American people in every station in life and from every quarter of the land. It has been, however, utterly impossible for me to read even a letter of that description which I have received, among other interruptions seemingly thus far una voidable. I fully appreciate, however, the good will and friendliness which these letters indicate, and I shall not omit, as time allows, to read every one of them. These good friends, of course, will not expect any replies to their communications, for that will be utterly out of the question and the most that I can do is to say through the press that I am not unmindful of their kindness.

"Many of the callers whom I have been obliged to receive would not, I think, have encroached upon my time if they had given the matter a moment's reflec-Those who have called upon me to talk about offices, it seems to me, have been a little inconsiderate and certainly unnecessarily premature. I desire statement made that I not propose to consider applications for office prior to my manguration, and I shall avoid all ws on that subject. Those who, under any pretext, gain an opportunity to present their applications cannot possibly do anything which would so interfere with their chances of success. Written applications will be so little regarded that I doubt if they ever see the files in Washington, for there is no reason or decency in my being overwhelmed with such matters at this time."

Upon being asked how long he expected to be away on his vacation. Mr. Cleve-

"As to that I am not certain. It will depend upon various conditions. I expect, however, to be absent about two weeks, and when I return, unless I am somewhat relieved from the unnecessary demands upon my time, to which I have been subjected here thus far, I shall shut up my house in the city and find some more quiet place to spend the winter. Certainly between now and the 4th of March I ought to have some time to devote to other matters than rereiving callers and considering subjects which should be postponed."

HOW IT STRIKES THE POLITICIANS,

Some of Them Do Not L'k C'eve'and's Out-

Washington, November 22.—(Special.)— President-elect Cleveland's rather feroclous interview in the afternoon naners warning the importunate seekers after office to bide their time was the subject of a good deal of comment here tonight among incoming members of congress and employes of the capitol. Of course those who look upon political victories solely from the standpoint of a distribution of the spoils howled like panthers, while others not quite so rabid, nor so precipitate in jambing forward for office, but who still maintain the doctrine of the victors and the spoils showed keen disappointment at Mr. Cleveland's disposition to avert his ear from the alluring song of Those who always upheld Mr. Cleveland's independence in the matter of pation naturally applauded the rough handing of those who have already thrust their demands for office-oral, or written, beneath Mr. Cleveland's nose. But the general feeling here among democrats in a position to know something of Mr. Cleveland's patronage policy during the next four years is that he intends to pursue a more liberal policy than he did before, and that the unseemly haste of those who have already been so bold as to file their caveats and pre-emption claims has forced from Mr. Cleveland this explicit warning to them to stand back until he gets a chance to breath.

Mr. Cleveland left the city very quietly at 8 o'clock this evening. He was driven in a closed carriage from his residence to Desbrosses street ferry and crossed to Jersey City. He was met by one of the Pendsylvania railroad officials, who escorted him to special car No. 21, of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore line, which had been attached to the regular 8:15 o'clock train from Jersey City south. Mr. Cleveland's departure was unobserved. All information as to the hour of departure, the direction to be taken and the destination of the president-elect was kept It Was Kept Secret.

land, muffled in a big overcoat, walked through the railway station, he was not recognized by the few people who were present. His destination is said to be New Berne, N. C., but as the train which he took has no southern connection it is thought he will stop at Old Point Comfort on the way.

They are Tracking Him.

Philadelphia, November 22.—President elect Cleveland is on his way to Exmore, Maryland, for a two weeks' gunning and fishing trip. He left Jersey City at 8:15 o'clock tonight in company with Charles Jefferson, son of Joseph Jefferson, in the private car of General Superintendent Kenny, of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baumore railroad.

Batumore railroad.

The train arrived at the Broad street station at 11 o'clock and here Clark Davis, editor of The Public Ledger, an intimate friend of Mr. Cleveland, joined the latter and his associate. The three will be the entire composition of the party. A reporter of the United Press sent his card to the president elect by a porter, but Mr. Cleve land declined to be seen. The porter's an swer was that "Mr. Cleveland says he can

Every effort was made to keep the desti-nation of the distinguished party secret, but the place to which the private car was bound was learned from the conductor.

The train, which is an Old Point Comfort and Norfolk express, goes down the Delaware railroad after leaving Wilmington, Del., which place it reached at mid-night. The trio is amply prepared for a genuine sportman's jaunt. That Mr. Cleveland will absent himself from the pub-

The Vote in Fayette County not Returne Yet-Cleveland Gets One El ector.

Columbus, O., November 22 - The se tary of state has all the returns from the late election complete except the vote on the state ticket in Fayette county. This has not been officially returned, but the exhas not been omicially returned, that he can act figures have been ascertained. The total vote in the state, according to the figures prepared by Colonel Poornian, was $54,203. The totals on presidential electors give Danford, republican, a plurality of 1,074 over Seward, democrat, and that wil be accepted as the republican plurality in the state. Danford ran 2,475 ahead of the the state. Danford ran 2,475 ahead of the other presidential electors on the republican ticket, whom Seward, democratic presidential elector beat by a plurality of 1,402. S. M. Taylor ran behind the presidential ticket in more ways than one, his plurality over W. A. Taylor, democratic candidate for secretary of the state being 973. The plurality of other candidates cannot be figured. rality of other candidates cannot be figured out for some time yet.

November, 22-In the trial of the first of the interstate commerce cases, that of Agent Miller of the Burlington road, Judge Bunn instructed the jury that inasmuch as the government had failed to produce evidence sufficient to convict they must find a verdict of not guilty. The indictment charged the Burlington road with giving lower than the published tariff rates on file with the interstate commerci commission at Washington to Warren & Company and Wright & Company, Nebraska shippers. Members of the firms were placed on the stand by the government, but on Judge Bunn's deciding they nee not answer questions that would tend to criminate them the witnesses refused to testify. The case was closed by the prosecution. The jury was instructed to Judge Bunn thereupon nol prossed the indictments against Eagan, Johnson, Firmenich and Swifts, and continued the case against Spriggs on representation of the government that there was better evidence against him than others.

SOUTH CAROLINA LEGISLATURE.

Election of Officers in the House-The Governor's Message.

Columbia, S. C., November 22.—(Special.)—The general assembly of South Carolina covened in annual sexion at noon today. In the house, Speaker Ira B. Jones and all the other old officers were re-elected, with the exception that S. B. Heurifoy, of Edgefield, will succeed W. B. Wellborn as reading clerk, the latter now being a member of the house. In accepting the office Speaker Jones said he would doubtless use his privileges as a member to assist in bringing about reforms, but he would not abuse the position to bonst a friend or humiliate an opponent.

In the Senate, Lieutenant Governor Carry presided and the old officers were re-elected. The Tillmanites held a caucus before hand to decide upon the officers. In the caucus Colonel Caughman was re-elected reading clerk by only two votes. Senator Jenkins introduced a bill to change the system of county governments that is lively to cause one of the principal debates of the session. It provides that the counties shallbe subdivided into townships and that each township shall have a supervisor, clerk, tax collector and road overseer, who can constitute a board of assessors. County treasurers and school commissioners shall be abelished.

The day was devoted to the transaction of routine matter. Governor Tillman's message was read in the senate. His successions against the advisability of a prohibition law seems to have thrown a little cold weter on the scheme which has herefore been regarded as certain to pass. The governor's friends say that his argument on the bank cases, which formed the staple for the charge of incompetency in the recent state canvass, is simply immissivefable. Is it garifying to the friends of the college to note in the message that the governor does not agric with Superintendent of Education Mavacid in regard to closing the South Carolina college, and that he intends to carry out his agreement to support it liberally.

TO WITHHOLD DAVENPORT'S PAY

washington, November 22.—Secretary Foster, of the treasury, today received an open letter addressed to him by Congressman Fitch, chairman of the house investigating committee regarding the payment of moneys to John I. Davenport, chief supervisor of New York, for "fees and marshals' expenses." The letter will be considered, Secretary Foster says, and replied to in the due course of time. The secretary would not indicate whether he would withhold the payment of Mr. Davenport's accounts as requested by Mr. Fitch. ing Committee.

A BIG DEFICIENCY

Will Confront the Democratic Party When It Goes Into Power.

THERE SHOULD BE AN EXTRA SESSION

But It Is the Clear Duty of This Congress to Meet This Question.

CONGRESSMAN SPRINGER ON THE TARIFF

He Believes It the Party's Duty to En a Broad and Comprehensive Tariff Law-Talk of Leaders.

Washington, November 22.-(Special.)-I understand, since I came into the city," said Senator Vest, of Missouri, to-night, "that a deficit is upon us; that the and that a shortage will occur this year, all the way from forty to ninety millions of dollars. I have no opinion at this time as to what course is best to pursue. None of us know what state the treasury is in. It has been hid from us. We know that things have been done with the treasury books never done before; that money has been used and funds broken into which Secretary Foster had no right to touch: but just how badly we are in the hole none of us yet know and cannot hope to before congress convenes. This, however, I am free to say: Whatever the deficit is—probably nine or ten millions—we must meet it and provide for it this ses-sion. We must not leave it for the next

"It is now some five days," said Senator Cockrell, of Missouri, pursuing the same thread touched on by his colleague, "since I came back to Washington. Like Mr. Vest, I don't know the dimensions of the deficit, but it should be met at this coming session and provided for. As to the question of an extra session, I'm in favor of one. However, I feel as if the matter belonged to Mr. Cleveland after he is inaugurated and not to the senators or representatives. Still I have an opinion and it is decidedly in favor of an extra session. We have all been talking and thinking tariff this campaign and there should now be no delay in acting. The McKinley bill is a national wrong and the sooner it is made right the better. There is nothing to be gained for ourselves or the country by walting, and both from the condition of the country's finances as well as the outrage in the McKiuley bill itself, I doesn the case un-ent, and one which not only justifies but plainly points to an extra session as early as April, '9v to solve it. There is nothingin the 'go slow' talk. We have been fighting a tariff figur for years. The question is not novel to any of us and we will be as well equipped and ready to act in April as in December."

Hon. William R. Morrison said tonight: "I feel diffident about expressing any tariff views. The members of congress might call it going out of my way. I do not, however, see how the five bills which passed the house last session can be urged in the senate this congress. There is, I understand, a grave shortage in the treasury. These bills to put on the free list single articles should then be abandoned as calculated to make a greater shortage. The democrats, now they have control of all of the lawmaking machinery, should deal with the tariff on broad and complete lines. An entire tariff bill should be prepared to take the place of the McKinley law and passed. Of course, under the senate rules that body could at the next session seize any one of those single bills and graft upon it by an amendment an entire tariff bill. In other words, the whole tariff situation might be solved at this next session and no talk of an extra session be necessary. But it is not probable that the republicans in the senate would consent to this, nor that Harrison would sign a bill if they did."

Ordered Him to Leave the House.

Huntington, W. Va., November 22.—Allen Harrison, aged twenty-five, was hanged here this afternoon for the murder of his sweetheart, Bettie Adams, on April 2d last. Harrison was a suitor for the hand of Miss Adams, the pretty sixteen-year-old daughter of Mr. Frank Adams, of Big Cabell Creek, fifteen miles east of Huntington. The parents objected to Harrison's visits, and the girl soon gave him to understand that his visits should cease. However, he would follow and beg her to reconsider her refusal to marry him. On the 2d of last April Harrison went to her house and asked Bettie again to marry him. She requested him to leave. Pulling a revolver from his pocket he shot her twice, the first bullet penetrating her heart. He then pulled a phial, containing landanum, from his pocket, and before he could drink it men at-tracted from the field by the firing, came and tied him. The grand jury was imme-diately impanelled and an indictment found. The trial began at once and continued three days, the jury finding him guilty of murder in the first degree, the latter being out but stead, Pa., November 22.-The Homestead, Pa., November 22.—The om-cial existence of the strikers famous ad-visory board was ended at a meeting held last night. Applications for reinstatement in the mills continue today in increased numbers. The officials seem inclined to be considerate and it is now thought probable hat a much larger proportion of the strikers will be re-employed than it was thought possible.

At the Wire and Nail Mill.

Beaver Falls, Pa., November 22.—Some applications for work in the Carnegie wire and nail mills were received today. The names were taken and enrolled, but no promises given. Superintendent Wringley made a short speech to the men. He stated that all applicants for work in the nail and wire mills would be given their old positions with the exception of four or five. He stated that there would be a slight reduction in wages at the wire mill. When work will begin is not yet known.

Yellow and Blue Labels.

St. Jouls, November 22.—The Knights of Labor adopted a resolution reciting that in view of an alleged international organization of shoemakers granting the use of the blue hale regardless of whether the concerns are organized or not, and as trade district assemily No. 216 (shoemakers) is endeavoring to secure the introduction and general sale of shoes bearing the yellow label, the general sale of shoes bearing the yellow label, the general sale of shoes bearing the yellow label, the general sale of shoes bearing the yellow label, the general sale of shoes bearing the yellow label, the general sale of the yellow labeled Knight of Labor shoes. The resolution opposing the abolition of the tax on state bank issues was laid over for further consideration.

At the afternoon discussion of the state bank tax resolution was resumed and it was finally dropped to be taken up at some future convention.

It was ordered that the headquarters property in Philadelphia, worth from $80,000 to $75,000, be sold by the general officers on the best terms obtainable. These officers were also authorized to select permanent headquarters in one of the three following cities: Niagara Falls, Columbus, and Rellimore, M.A. A preference vote on these cities was taken by the assembly, which resulted in Niagara receiving thirty-four votes, Columbus thenty-one and Baltimore eighteen. If neither of these places upon investigation meets the requirements another place will be selected at the next annual meeting.

The general officers were authorized to select for the next annual meeting either Boston, Chicago of New Orleans. The miners' union matter was not taken up. It may come up tomorrow. A boycott was placed on factory of H. Rollof & Co., hatters, of Philadelphia, for discriminating against the Knights of Labor. It is understood that business will be finished tomorrow.

There alsay Be a Strike.

There May Be a Strike. Cincinnati. Ohio, November 22.—Telegraph operators employed on all the important ralloperators employed on all the important rall-road systems are just now bestiring them-selves. General Manager Ramsey, of the Big Four, has had a conference with the grievance committee representing the operators employed on that system and will reply to their demands on the 36th. Mr. Ramsey is of the opinion that, as is usually the case, the men have asked for more than they really expect to get. Inasmuch as the order of Railroad Telegraph-ers demand regognition as a body, the trouble with the Big Four operators may not be so so quickly settled as it was with the Queen and Crescent officials, who have agreed to rec-ognize the order.

Washington, November 22.—The "ten days" statement issued at the treasury department today shows the net gold balance, $123,601,457, a decrease of $1.030,000 during this month, and more than $2,000,000 since the first of the calendar year. Since the first of the fiscal year, however, by extra exertion, this gold balance has been increased more than $8,000, The receipts at New York for the past twen-ty days have not shown the failing off antici-pated, but have actually increased over the corresponding period of last November $500.-000.

Courtmartial Cases Submitted.

Washington, November 22.—Captain Lemiy, judge advocate general of the navy, has submitted the courtmartial case of Paymaster Sullivan and Assistant Engineer Danforth, to Secretary Tracy for his action. Paymaster Sullivan was charged with negligence and Engineer Danforth with refusing to obey the orders of his superior officers. Both officers were found guilty and their dismissal recommended by the court. Appeals to Secretary Tracy to mitigate the sentence in each case has been made, and the secretary now has them under consideration. It is thought that he will mifigate the sentence of Danforth to suspension from rank and pay for a certain period.

A DAY'S CASUALTIES

Wreck on the Georgia Central Railroad Yesterday

AT VAUGHN'S STATION NEAR GRIFFIN

Cars Smashed and One Man Fatally Injured.

JOSEPH MEDILL'S HOUSE BURNED

A Whole Family Perish in the Fames Near Pittsburg, Pa.-Fire in a Mine. Etc.

Griffin, Ga., November 22.—(Special.)— One engine rammed halfway through another; half a dozen cars split into kindling wood; the track completely blocked; and a half dozen men under the care of physicians-that tells the tale of a serious headend collision on the Chattanooga division of the Central railroad this morning about 11 o'clock, which happened near Vaughn's station, eight miles west of here.

The regular passenger train left here this morning with instructions to meet an extra coming east at Vaughn's station. Im-mediately following the passenger train an extra freight was sent out from here with instructions to meet the Cedartown accommodation at Senois, but with no notice of the east bound extra which pulled out for Griffin immediately after the passenger train the east bound extra which pulled out for Griffin immediately after the passenger train left.

The train was just getting up a pretty good head of speed when on rounding a short curve Engineer Charles Lowenthal saw the engine of the westbound train, as he says, so close on him that he neither had time to reverse his engine or blow for brakes but with a warning to his fireman to look out for himself jumped out of his cab window. The engineer of the other train did the same and not a second too soor as the engines came together with a terrible crash.

Mr. Lowenthal, of Griffin, engineer of the incoming train had both ankles sprained, the left one badly so. B. F. Stoltzus, of Concord, Tenn., fireman on the outgoing train in jumping fell in a pile of rocks breaking his left wrist, cutting his lips, nose and chin, besides bruising his face and head. L. M. Spann, of Rome, Ga., forward brakeman, had his right leg broken below the knee besides other bruises George Clark, of Griffin, left cheekbone crushed in, bruised on the head, suffering from concussion of the brain and internal injuries. He is considered fatally injured. The remainder of the crew escaped serious injury though how it was, is one of the mysteries of railroad accidents that will never be explained. A wrecking train was sent out to the scene of accident with physicians, who had the wounded brought into the city where they are doing very well tonight with the exception of George Clarke, who is considered in a very precarious condition. The accident from the facts now known was due to an oversight of the train out for Chattanooga. I did not see McLaughlin tonight, but the report is that he detected his great error before the collision occurred and telegraphed his resignation to headquarters. If Clark dies, as seems probable tonight, it is quite likely the train dispatcher will be held responsible for his death, which under the laws of Georgia, such neglect is considered criminal and the guilty held to account for murder.

ACCIDENT ON THE UNION PACIFIC.

Omaha, Neb., November 22.—A dispatch from Alda, Neb., states that an accident occurred on the Union Pacific railroad, by which four persons were killed and three injured. The wreck was caused by a collision between the overland flyer and a freight. Both engines were completely wrecked. The baggage and postal cars telescoped, and the freight cars piled on top of the broken mass. The killed are: Engineer Barrett, Engineer McDonald, Conductor Keeler and Fireman Owens. The injured are: Fireman Castillo, fatally; Mail Clerk Lyons, fatally; Brakeman Sutherland, badly crushed and scalded. Only one passenger was hurt and he but slightly.

WRECK ON THE Q. AND C.

One Man Killed and Several Others Seriously Injured.

New Orleans, November 22.—A confusion of train orders occasioned a wreck on the Queen and Crescent this afternoon near Derby, a small station sixty-five miles north of New Orleans. A northbound freight crashed into a southbound passenger train and a disastrous smashup resulted. A tramp was instantly killed and Charles Peck, of Chattanooga, Tenn., fatally injured; Manuel E. Crume, of Livingston, Ala., had a leg broken; E. M. Holland, a rallway mail clerk, of this city, was badly hurt, and Charles Scott, of Chicago, sustained a sprained ankle.

A BLAZING FURNACE

Two Thousand Feet Under the Ground. Fourteen Men Stiffed.

Canton, Pa., November 22.—Fierce flames are raging in the workings of Holden colliery at Taylor, five miles from this city, which are so located as to make it almost impossible of their being extinguished in any other manner than by flooding. Last night workmen endeavored to reach the blazing subterrenean furnace, which is two thousand feet from the bottom of the shaft, but the stifling afterdamp which filled the gangway quickly overcame them after they had passed the fresh air ways and one by one the men fell in the gangway. Several of them realizing the awful danger into which they were treading turned in time and succeeded in getting to a point where there was fresh air which enabled them to appreciate the condition of those overcome further on in the gangway. Quickly summoning a rescuing party and providing themselves with the necessary safeguards they returned into the gangway and fourtean prostrated miners were carried out unconscious and more dead than alive. Then another force was formed under Superintendent Davies to try and get hose upon the fire. They, too, were overcome by poisonous vapors and it was only by having men trailing behind them that they were enabled to have the resciers reach them. This time Superintendent Davies and thirteen other men were carried out so much overcome that the physicians had to work more Canton, Pa., November 22.-Fie

... A FAMILY CREMATED.

They Had Their Greenhouse in the Cellar and the Furnace Set Fire to the House. Pittsburg. November 22.—The lives of an entire family were blotted out by fire this moraing. The dead are: Hiram Danahauer, aged forty-five years; Mrs. Danahauer, aged forty-three; and their daughter, aged ten years. The Danahauer family lived in Pleasant Valler, Opara township, just outside the town of Sharpsburg. They had a greenhouse in the basement of their home and placed a furnace in it yesterday. It is presumed the furnace became overheated, setting fire to the woodwork. The family died before the neighbors knew of their danger. When the fire was discovered the house had been burned to the ground and the charred remains of the father, mother and daughter were found among the ruins. Danahauer was a tinner by occupation and quite well connected.

Newspaper Office Destroyed.

Harrisourg, Penn., November 22.—Fire in The Morning Patriot building this morning destroyed the interior of the building. Loss estimated at $40,000 to $60,000; partly insured. The morning edition had just been run off when the configuration took place. Several persons were severely burned.

Pasadena, Cal., November 22.—The residence of Joseph Medill, editor of The Chicago Tribune, with its contents, except a little furniture on the first floor. was totally destroyed by fire this morning. The fire was caused by the carelessness of a servant throwing hot ashes in a pine box in the rear of the house. Loss, about $30,000; insurance, $20,000. The whole household escaped injury by hasty flight.

The damage to agricultural districts amount to many hundreds of thousands of dollars. It has certainly been the worst rainfall ever experienced on Puget Sound, and the rain having set in again is liable to cause additional loss.

Several additional small towns along the railway lines are under water and some single-story houses are entirely submerged.

DUNRAVEN'S PROPOSITION

For Contesting for the America Cup in a New York, November 22.—The com-tee of five, appointed by the New York Yacth club, to conduct the matter of ar-ranging the race for the American cup, made public today Lord Dunraven's letter on the subject. Lord Dunraven agrees to the proviso of the New York Yacht club that no yacht now existing in the course of construction, shall be debarred or penalized. He agrees that if he wins the cup to leave open to challenge, under the same conditions, as those under which he challenges. Lord Dunraven concludes by saying that he trusts that a challenge on the modified terms will be accounted.

modified terms will be accepted. The New York club has sent him the following cable: "Dunraven, if all reference to former and absolete deeds is omitted, the proposition in your letter of the 7th of Noven satisfactory, and we will recomm New York Yacht club to accept." There seems now to be no doubt that the race will be sailed during the summer of 1893. This is the conviction of the committee of the New York Yacht club, who will have the matter in hand of recommending the acceptance of such a challenge as Dunraven wishes to send and already speculation has been begun as to whether a new boat will have to be built or not.

Brussels. November 22.—The proceedings of the international monetary conference, which met at the Palais des Acadamies today, were entirely informal. The following countries were represented: Austria-Hungary, Belgium, France, Germany, Great Aritain, Greece, Italy, the Netherlands, Portugal, Roumania, Russia, Servia, Spain, Norway and Sweden and Switzerland. M. Beermaert, Belgian prime minister and minister of finance who opened the proceedings, extended, in the name of the Belgian government, a cordial welcome to the delegates. After referring to the monetary crisis that had occurred during the past century, he said, it was in the direction of an international understanding that a solution of the monetary question was now sought.

lution of the monetary question was now, sought.

M. Montefiori, as president of the conference, followed M. Beermaert. He referred to the many attempts made to solve the monetary question and said the worst feature of the present monetary situation was its instability. He hoped the conference would sink its individual interests and keep in view the higher interest of the great human family.

Hon. E. Terrell, United States minister to Belgium, replied in a few formal words on behalf of the American delegates. The conference then adjourned until Friday.

FAVORS MRS. DEACON.

Decision of the French Court of Appeals in the Abduction Case.

Paris. November 22.—The court of appeals has given a decision substantially in favor of Mrs. Deacon on her appeal from the decision of the tribunal of the Seine, which refused to grant her a divorce from Mr. Edward Parker Deacon, on the alleged ground of cruelty, and has ordered that the child. Gladys, abducted by Mrs. Deacon shall be returned to the convent where she was formerly kept, until the decision of the suit now pending at Grass and Aix. This is virtually a triumph for Mrs. Deacon and Mrs. Deacon's object was to get the child for removal to America. The child is now to be retained in France. Her bold move in abducting the child has, therefore, been successful in its object. Certain members of the Abeille family are still at work doing all they can to assist Mrs. Deacon and to obstruct Mr. Deacon in his litigation with his wife.

PROSECUTIONS HAVE BEGUN.

Paris, November 22.—The Panama canal prosecution has begun. Summonses in the criminal proceedings were served today on Count Ferdinand and Charles de Lesaeps, M. Eiffel, Messeurs Fontaine and Cotton. The prosecution will be conducted by M. Quesnay de Beurepaire. The procurer general has drawn up his act of accusation, which is very voluminous. The charge against the defendants is the misuse of the capital raised for the construction of the l'anama canal, embesslement of the funds of the canal company and the issuing of bogus and fraudulent statements of the financial condition of the company and the progress of the work, with the view to deceive the investing public. The expense of the trial on the part of the government will be very great. The hearing is set down for Friday next. It is believed Count Ferdinand de Lesae will be too if to appear on Friday. He calculated the Nevertheless the development of the military power of other states of Europe imposes on us the serious and even imperative duty, on our side, of strengthening the defensive capacity of the empire by drastic measures. Seeing the development aforesaid, it is only by enforcing the tried principle of universal military service that we may expect these qualities in our army, whereon its strength and glory is based, to maintain Germany in the future in the position of honor occupied in the past. Ceremonies at the Salvation Army Meeting. How Booth Takes Up a Collection.

New York, November 22.—The dedication of the three weeks' old daughter of Commander and Mrs. Ballington Booth to the cause of the Salvation Army, was the chief feature of the continental congress in Car-negie hall today. The hall was crowded and many hundreds were turned away. The colwas one of the most interesting of tonight's proceedings. The commander asked some one in the boxes to start the collection with $200. After a dismal wait it was aned that a Chicago gentleman would give $200 if a New Yorker would do the same. Some time was spent in appealing to city pride, and then some one in a box cried out that a Gothamite was ready to see the Chicagoan. This was greeted by many hosannas. The names of the donors were handed to the commander with the request that they be not made public. A general collection was then taken up. The meeting closed with a flag-raising in honor of the first issue of The German War Cry, to be published in New York, under the ediip of George B. Lober.

At the recent carnival celebration Mr. Sam Wilkes was thrown from his horse and has been confined to his bed ever since. He was hurt the night of the procession, but bore the pain until it was over and then had to give up. Since which time he has suffered much, but his physician says he is not dangerously hurt. Everybody sympathizes with Colonel Wilkes, for his energy contributed in no small degree to the success of carnival week.

GOSSIPY AND PERSONAL

All true lovers of art certainly had a treat before them yesterday in the exhibition of fac-simile water colors and artist-proof etchings shown at Lester's. The two windows were filled with these charming ple tures, and I heard one of the passers-by remark as she scrutinized several of them, that she knew some of them were hand-painted because she could see the strokes of the brush, while a man snubblingly remarked that they were very pretty but nothing but prints. This was a certain phase of artistic appreciation on the pavement, but there were a number of really appreciative people in the store who seemed simply to revel in the ceanty spread before them.

All the paintings exhibited were fac-simile water colors from famous pictures of celebrated masters. These were done by French artists for the firm of Goupil & Co., and are the finest and most exquisite reproductions. One of the lovellest, a large picture, was from a painting of Alma Tadema—the subjects, a young man and woman, upon one of those Tademaesque backgrounds of marble and roses. The full sweet rose vines gave a dash of color above the poished marble seat carved on either side in bas relieves of a Venus and a vestal. The roces of the lover are full of eastern color and richness, and ms brown face, half revealed and resting on one hand is turned toward the girl in eloquent passion. The girl herself is white robed, dusky of eyes and half and just dropped from her warm test hand a red rose lies like a bleeding heart on the marble. The Mostac floor upon which her sandals rest is painted with that rich simplicity, characteristic of all Tadesmas art, and the whole canvas glows with color and radiates the ideal beauty of Grecian art.

There are some splendid reproductions of Detailles martial art, pletures full of color and exparession, wonderful in detail and strong in execution; and these minutry pictures are so appropriate for a man's study or smoking room.

Another charming water color for such a place, shows a group of hunting dogs by a big open fire.

contentment. The picture is such a dear, cosy, comfortable study.

"A Directoire Belle" is the title of an exquisite bit color after Fiameng The subject is a pretty aristocratic young creature arrayed in a high-crowned feather trimined bonnet, much make those we are wearing now, and the furthat trims her soft cape and forms the murifor the pretty hands is wonderfully treated. Another pretty thing from Fiameng is called the "Old Old Story," and of course has a pair of lovers as its study. The mas is that most arresistate timing too, a soldler brave, and he is pleading, oh, so carnestly upon his bended knees. His face is pale with doubt and passion, and the girl, she is very young and very innocent, and you are sure as you look on her nower-like face that her lips are quivering and her eyes are as wet as violets in early morning. It is very sweet and delicious and true—at sixteen.

If the sporty young man must have ballet girls strung around the walls of his bedroom; I wish for his own sake and for the sake of those who see the aforesaid walls that he'd choose a ballet girl like the one in pink that pleased me passing well. The picture that contained her was called "Yes or No." and it was a simple study of this pink creature as she sat on a dull blue lounge with her fingers holding a pen on the little desk by her side. The background was a greenish stone blue, and she suggested a minnoso blossom against a stone wall A beautiful study were her limbs and arms and delicate throat and bosom; but her face held the chief interest in the picture. A young refened face, with sweet flower lips and gentian eyes, the flower lips puckered into pathetic quivers and the eyes distressed and groomy as clouded skies.

"Yes, or No?" how wonderfully they paint a tragedy in Paris!

Then there were other beautiful water colors, charming in color and detail, and etchings as pure and clear as the soul of a saint, and of them all the one I worshipd in solemn idolatry, was Gerome's "Two Majesties." A small canvas it was with one solemn, l

Cut Glass.

From the immense punch bowl, nearly worth its weight in gold, glittering like a heap of jewels, to the tiniest salt cellar, cut glass is put to every imaginable use.

At the feasts given by some modern Croesus the display of cut glass, of silver, of luxurious adornments of all kinds rivals in splendor the magnificience of Nero, the splendor of Pompeil, before its destruction. For the dining table articles of cut glass are shown in the greatest profusion. Celery, olive and jelly dishes come in the oddest shapes and are most beautifully ornamented. Champagne and claret pitchers glow with shapes and are most beautifully ornamented.

Champagne and claret pitchers glow with a hundred prismatic colors that will add new luster to the sparkling liquids they are intended to contain. Wine glasses, in different shapes and sizes; carafes, through which water gleams with such crystal phrity; all these lend to eating and drinking luxury and beauty.

Nor is it the dining room alone which cut glass adorns. It is found in the drawing room in the shape of rose bowls and flowershaped vases. It is found in "my lady's chamber" as quaintly shaped bottles that hold her ladyship's favorite perfumes.

Many women have fads for particular things. One delights in collecting rare old laces; another, curious or costly fans; another, china, and so on.

Nothing could give more genuine satisfaction to the collector than the gathering together of rare articles of cut glass. A piece here, a piece there, as ones means allow until one has a collection that will one has a collection to the collection that will one has a collection to the collection that will one has a collection that will be a collection to the collection that will be a collection that will be a collection to the colle table resplendent with the hashing lights of fragile crystal.

In the magnificent display of cut glass at Maier & Berkele's the most fastidious taste may be satisfied. The articles were chosen with the greatest care and no more beautiful collection could have been gathered together.

HE IS INSANE.

The Jury Makes That Decision in Dr. Worsham's Case.

A MACON POLICEMAN FOUND DEAD

A Beceiver for Price & Mass Asked for. Local and Personal Gossip of the Central City.

Macon, Ga., November 22.—(Special.)— Dr. W. E. Worsham, son of the county physician an account of whose arrest as a maniac after he had attempted to mur-der his father, appeared in The Constitution this morning, has been adjudged insane. The jury of lunacy was assembled at the jail this morning and the scene there en-acted was a strange one.

Young Worsham had recovered tempora-rily from his fit of madness and appeared to be equally as sane and calm while be-fore the jury and afterwards as any mem-fore the jury and afterwards as any member of the jury.

The evidence of the witnesses was, however, very plain. It is evident that the young man's brain has been gradually growing weaker for some months. He has been subject to fits of melancholy, followed generally by strange and unaccountable bursts of passion that seemed to be uncontrollable. The evidence given by the father and especially that part of it dealing with the atpecially that part of it dealing with the at-tack made upon him by his son yesterday was tragic in the extreme and the old gen-tleman was visibly affected during its re-cital. He was loath, he said, to strike his son and at first feared that he had killed him with the hammer that he used when de-fending himself against the madman's onto take violent measures in order to save his own life and possibly that of other members of the family.

After a full hearing of the evidence the jury found young Worsham a fit subject for the lunatic asylum and he will be kept in jail until a vacancy can be found for him at Milledgeville.

A Receiver Asked For.

A Receiver Asked For.

A petition was this morning filed in the superior court asking that the assignment of Price & Maas be set aside and a receiver appointed.

The petitioners are Messrs. H. C. Anthony, Potter & Worthington, A. Lusk & Co., John Dwight & Co. and T. M. Sinclair & Co., all of whom are creditors of the firm. It is charged that the deed of assignment is null and void because:

1. It was drawn up and the work in connection with it was carried out on a Sunday.

2. Because R. M. Smith, the assignee, is not required in the deed of assignment to give bond, and further because he is allowed to sell the stock and to settle and comprenies notes.

owed to sell the stock and to settle and compromise notes.

The petition askes that the assignee be restrained from selling goods shipped by the petitioners to the firm of Price & Maas, and that a receiver be appointed and the deed of assignment canceled.

Judge Miller issued the restraining order asked for and has set Saturday next as the day for a hearing on the appointment of a receiver.

day for a hearing on the appointment of a receiver.

An amendment to the petition of foreign creditors was filed at a late hour tonight. The amendment sets out that the mortgages that were filed on Saturday last, the deed of assignment being filled on Monday are null and void. It is claimed that these mortgages amounting to $28,000 were made without any of the mortgagees being present, and that the mortgagees knew nothing about them. The amendment asks that the filiug of the deeds be discontinued and that the mortgagees be made parties in the bill and be brought into court. Judge Miller set the hearing on the amendment for Saturday next, when the main petition will also be set.

Found Dead in Bed.

Henry Abel, one of the best officers on the police force, was found dead in his bed this evening. Heart failure was probably the cause of his death. Abel had leave of absence yesterday and was out hunting. He was to haye gone on duty tonight at 12 o'clock, but has already answered the call from the other side of the dark river. He leaves a wife and large family. He was about forty years of age.

The sale will take place from the courthouse steps and as the property is a valuable railroad holding, it will no doubt attract a large number of outside bidders.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hertz a delightful whist party was given last night in honor of Miss Hamburger, of New York, who has stopped over in Macon for a short visit before going to Jackson-wille, Fla. The first prize, a beautiful ring, was worn by Miss Etta Greenburg. The booby prize was won by Miss Hamburger. Refreshments, furnished elegantly by M. J. Putzel, followed the card party.

"The Little Blacksmith" and Lizzie Evans will appear here on Friday evening, and the production should be witnessed by all lovers of good, clean comedy.

Tomorrow morning at 6:30 o'clock in St. Joseph's Catholic church Mr. Thomas F. Sheridan and Miss Frances Valentio will be married. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan will leave on an extended bridal tour through Florida, visiting Jacksonville, St. Augustine and all points of interest.

AUGUSTA IS HAPPY

cause the Richmond and Danville Has Given Her a Fast Schedule to New York.

Augusta, Ga., November 22.—(Special.)—
The new vestibuled limited train on the Richmond and Danville made its first trip out of Augustat today.

It left here at 12:30 o'clock and the through sleeper connects with the vestibule limited from Atlanta at Charlotte reaching New York at 12:50 o'clock the next day Under this splendid new schedule August is within twenty-four hours of New York. and within eighteen hours of Washington In the past the schedule between Augusta and Washington was twenty-four hours, and it was necessary to change sleepers at Charlotte or Greensboro. Now a Pullman sleeper runs daily between Augusta and New York.

and New York.

This new schedule will throw all the northern business to the Richmond and Danville and destroys the Coast Line's business in the Augusta territory. It will also add materially to Augusta's winter business, and will make the Hotel Bon Air more popular than ever.

The Richmond and Danville will also commence running through Pullmans to Florida very soon via Columbia and the southbound to Savannah, which will make the fastest time from New York to Jacksonville and St Augustine.

Indeed, the Richmond and Danville in the hands of such progressive railroad men as General Manager Green, General Passenger Agent Turk, and Assistant General Passenger Agent Sam Hardwick, in Atlanta, are making things hum.

To drive a cough from the system use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. It never fails.

BURIED IN CARROLL. Prominent Physician of That County Who Died in Atlanta.

A Prominent Physician of That County Whe Died in Atlanta.

Carrollton, Ga., November 22.—(Special.) Dr. L. J. Adderhold, of Waco, who died very suddenly in Atlanta Sunday, was buried yesterday at Bowdon, this county. Dr. Adderhold was one of the most prominent physicians and business men of Haralson. He was stricken some weeks ago with some internal trouble and was carried to Atlanta Sunday for an operation, but he died before the surgical operation could be performed.

The deceased was born and raised near this place, but just after the war he moved to Bowdon, where he resided for many years, and from there he went to Waco. The doctor was once a democratic nominee for the legislature from Carroll.

Hon. S. E. Grow, deputy grand master of the grand lodge of Masons of Georgia, with the assistance of about one hundred Masons, conducted the funeral of Dr. Adderhold at Bowdon yesterday, in the presence of 1,000 people. The deceased was a strict member of the Methodist church, and his funeral was conducted by Rev. John Thurman, one of the oldest preachers in Carroll.

Freddie Croft, the ten-year-old son of Captain Fred Croft, an old and well-known citizen of Carrollton, died this morning.

Houston takes the drum with ease and returns thanks to the donor.

If you will observe you will see that Houston gave to Mr. Crisp almost one-fourth of his entire majority. The drum is now being paraded through the streets of Perry, and is greeted everywhere with cheers. It will probably be placed in the hands of the Perry Rifles for safe keeping.

a host of friends.

For Light and Water.

For Light and Water.

Cartersville, Ga., November 22.—(Special.)—
The gas and water question of Cartersville has once more come to the front. This time in the nomination of a mayor and aldermen for the ensuing year. The ticket put forward last night in an enthusiastic and largely attend mass meeting of the citizens was a young man's ticket, and the sentiment reflected by them is that of progress. Light and water octus the platform upon which they were put forward, and it is hoped that the much mooted question will be easily settled for the good of our city.

An unusual offer—the one that's made by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh. Remedy. Unusual, but made in good faith. It's a reward of $500 for an incurable case of Catarrh. If you have one, the word of $500 for an incurable one of Catarrh. If you have one, the word of $500 for an incurable one of Catarrh. If you have one, the word of $500 for an incurable one of Catarrh. If you have one, the word can be offered. There's a risk about it, to be sure. But it's so small that the proprietors are willing to take it.

The symptoms of catarrh are, headache, obstruction of nose, discharges falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous purulent, bloody, putrid and offensive; eyes weak, ringing in the ears, deafness; offensive breath; smell and taste impaired, and general debility. Only a few symptoms present at once.

SOME PECULIAR LETTERS

Which Have Created Considerable Excitement in Cartersville.

ment in Cartersville.

Cartersville, Ga., November 22.—(Special.)—The munisterial community of the city is the center of excitement here just now. If there is a town in north Georgia that is noted for its law and order that town is Cartersville, and yet within the last few days our preachers have been the recipients of a number of anonymous and scurrilous letters. Rev. Sam Jones was given until the 25th of December to "take up his bed and walk," or if not he was summarily threatened with the 'white caps." Rev. Mr. Mashburne, of the Methodist church; Dr. Dobbs, of the Baptist and one or two members of the church have also received these letters. What the object of the scurillous scribbler can be beyond gratifying the evil in his heart cannot be immagined, for it is safe to say that any attempt of violence would meet with most vigorous resistance.

The matter is being quietly investigated and it is thought that the author will soon be discovered and made to suffer the punishment deserved.

The Commercial Club

We present elsewhere in this issue an interesting interview with President J. G. Oglesby, of the Commercial Club, concerning the early opening of this wellknown institution.

The information given by President Oglesby will be very gratifying to the business men of Atlanta, to whom is promised a social down-town business man's club, as complete in every detail as any organization of its kind in the southern states. Indeed, it is probable that there is not another similar institution in all the south, with the possible exception of Louisville and Richmond, whose equipment will be more thorough, or whose scope of usefulness will be more fully occupied.

Mr. Oglesby has just returned from a visit to Bloomington, Ill., where he went with a committee from the club to invite the vice president-elect to be present at the formal opening of the club. General Stevenson accepted for himself and his interesting family, and will visit Atlanta on the 21st of December, on which evening the doors of this club will be thrown open to the membership. The occasion will be one long to be remembered, and under the experienced direction of President Oglesby and his assistants will, of course, meet every expectation that Atlanta's distinguished guests can entertain, and it is but natural that they should look for great things from Atlanta, which has established a national reputation for hospitality in the splendor of the several entertainments which have been tendered Its distinguished guests on festive occa-

The Constitution congratulates the city on the early opening of the new Commercial Club, and it congratulates President Oglesby, particularly, on the success which has crowned his efforts, above all others, to give Atlanta just such a busiiness man's club as the Commercial Club

Purge the Pension List.

We believe that the policy of the democrats on all the issues that affect the pec ple should be as simple and as straightforward as their policy on the tariff. In the interest of the taxpayers of the country-in the interest of justice and patriotism-they will be compelled to reform the pension legislation of the republicans; they will be compelled to purge the pension list of the frauds that have swarmed upon it under the republican ad-

The people have small comprehension of the enormity of these frauds. Under the Harrison administration, which, for partisan purposes, has winked at the corruptions of the pension commissioner, the pension sharks and claim agents have been making a continuous raid on the treasury department. The upshot of it is that at the coming session congress is expected to make an appropriation of $186,000,000 for the payment of pensions.

There will be on the pension roll, on the first day of January, 1,000,000 pensioners! Although the war ended more than a quarter of a century ago, the pensioners are now in the proportion of nearly one in twelve to the voters of the whole union. This proportion shows that enormous frauds have been perpetrated and that the people are wronged and robbed every hour that the frauds are permitted to continue. More than 40 per cent of the revenue of the government is absorbed by the pension list.

The New York World has summarized the enormity of the list so that even the casual reader can understand and appre-

The pension list costs $120,000,000 more than The pension list costs $120,000,000 more than the entire expenses of the government in the fear before the war. It has increased $160,000,000 since 1877, when the war had been ended a dozen years.

The number of pensioners on the 1st of January will almost equal the regular standing armies of France and Germany combined, which contain 1,046,000 men.

The cost of the list exceeds by $73,000,000 the annual cost of the great standing army of

The cost of the list exceeds by $73,000,000 the annual cost of the great standing army of overtaxed Germany. It exceeds by $56,000.000 the cost of the standing army of France. Under the reckless ingenuity of rapacious claim agents and the partisan zeal of a corrupt pension commissioner the list is increasing at the rate of $350,000 a month. If not checked the cost for 1894 will reach the enormous sum of $200,000,0001

In the interest of honest government and in justice to the taxpayers of the

and in justice to the taxpayers of the country the pension lists must be purged purified, and the democratic congress should go about the work boldly and earnestly. The people will endorse the ork if it is conscientiously done.

There was a time when such a sugge oming from a southern newspaper would create quite a commotion the republican newspaper blusterers; federal veterans. The ragged and ess condition of some of our own veterans has caused our sympathies to flow out to the old soldiers on the other side, and we do not begrudge them one cent of the pension money which they may se-cure. They have earned it.

But we do object to the frauds and dummies that are drawing money the benefit of the sharks and agents have had corrupt control of the pension department under Harrison. Give the old soldiers their just dues; sustain their widows; but by all means cleanse the n rolls and the pension department itself of the fraud and corruption that have been given free play by the republicans.

The Confederate Home.

The bill accepting the Confederate Home is the special order for today. Our people are familiar with the leading facts of the case. A number of generous Georgians, with a few sympathizing friends outside of the state, built and equipped the Confederate Home with its spacious grounds, and tendered it to the state as a free gift. The property has rapidly increased in value, and is estimated to be worth at the present time $250,000. It will cost the state a mere trifle to maintain the home in proper style for a few years, and when it is no longer needed as a shelter for our destitute and homeless veterans, it will probably be worth a round million, and even as an investment it will yield a satisfactory profit, though, of course, this is not the ground on which its acceptance is urged.

In the recent state election the third party made this matter an issue, and was overwhelmingly defeated. The public sentiment of Georgia was expressed in the most emphatic and unmistakable manner, and our lawmakers thoroughly understand the wishes of their constituents.

We believe that the general assembly will discuss and decide this question in a broad-minded and patriotic spirit. Every southern state has provided a home for its veterans at the expense of the public. Georgia would probably have done the same, but fortunately private enterprise has made it possible for us to acquire a magnificent property upon the sole condition that we maintain it as a home for our old soldiers during the few years that it will be needed for that purpose. Our readers have not forgotten the disappointment and the harsh criticisms caused by the action of a former legislature in rejecting the home. For a time it seemed that Georgia stood alone as the only civilized state in the world that had deliberately refused to provide a shelter for the gallant heroes who had wrecked their health and their fortunes in her defense. But we have had time for the people to act and declare their will and there is no longer the slightest uncertainty. Our faith in Georgia has never wavered during this long controversy. The people of this historic commonwealth love and honor the men who wore the gray and they will not see those who cannot help themselves suffer in their old age. It has been suggested that some of the opposition to the home was due to the fact that it was regarded as an Atlanta institution. We do not believe that this idea will control a single vote. It is known that Atlanta pays about one-seventh of the taxes of the state. She pays out twenty times more than she receives in return in any shape. She goes deep down into her pockets to support the public schools, asylums and other institutions of the state, and as she grows and prospers her burdens multiply. This is so well understood that no fair-minded citizen will object to the location here of a splendid and patriotic charity reaching out to benefit the old soldiers in every county. There is nothing local in it, and in the end it will cost the state nothing. Stripped of all sentiment, and regarded purely as a matter of business, the Confederate Home is a good investment! The Cleveland Comet.

The new comet, which we take the liberty of naming the Cleveland comet, appears to be a very interesting object. can be discovered with an opera glass, any fair night, two or three degrees north of Andromeda-nearly overhead-and, when once discovered with the glass, is faintly visible to the naked eye, appearing as a chunk of nebulous matter.

There are many reasons why it should be called the Cleveland comet. It was discovered about the time of Mr. Cleveland's election, and it has caused as much confusion and perplexity among the astronomers as Mr. Cleveland's candidacy caused among the political leaders and prophets. Moreover, it promises to be one of the most conspicuous and interesting objects in the heavens in the dourse of a few more months. To cap the climax of comparison the astronomers are as sadly at loggerheads about the new comet as the politicians were about Mr.

But here the resemblance ends. comet is approaching, while Mr. Cleveland it here. He is on the spot. We know his orbit, and it is unnecessary, therefore, to compute it. We know that there is nothing nebulous in his composi tion. He is all nucleus, and there is nothing eccentric in his periods.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the Cleveland comet thus far is the fact that the astronomers are about to claw one another on account of it. The comet therefore, is making an object lesson of the astronomers. It has put them in action, as it were, and now the public is puzzled to know what to believe. It used to be that they agreed in assu the absence of an atmosphere on the moon; but they also agreed that a body without an atmosphere of some kind could not shine with reflected light. Now some one has discovered an atmo on the moon, (so it is said), and se astronomer says it is approaching the earth at the rate of 60,000 miles a second, and that it is sure to come in contact with the atmospheric envelope of this admira ble planet of ours. Another says it is moving at the rate of twenty-four miles second, and that it will gradually disppear after the 27th. One says it is coming directly towards the earth. An other says it isn't. One says it will be very near to us on the 27th, and will be as large as the full moon. Another says it is further away than Jupiter and that it will not be at its brightest and best until something like a year hence, when it will enter the orbit of the earth, and be a conspicuous feature in the heavens.

possibly visible in the daytime. This last is the theory of Professor Henry M. Parkhurst, of New York, who knows as much about it as any of the astronomers, and is not so cock-sure in regard to his opinions as the most of them. Professor Parkhurst thinks the Cleveland comet is far away and that it will gradually approach the earth until it forms in the sky a spectacle as beautiful and as imposing as the great comet of 1858, which covered half of the heavens with its shining tall.

Let us be prepared to enjoy to its utmost the spectacle which the Cleveland comet of democracy promises to provide for the nations of the earth.

On to Chicago. This morning, through the courtesy of the East Tennessee. Virginia and Georgia railroad, Governor Northen and commitees from the senate and house of representatives, accompanied by a corps of newspaper correspondents, leave for Chicago, to see the world's fair buildings. The party is in charge of Colonel B. W. Wrenn, the general passenger agent of the East Tennessee system, through whose interest in seeing Georgia exhibited at the world's fair, the nvitation was extended.

Those of the Georgia delegation who have not visited Chicago recently will be amazed at the enormity of the preparations. There has never been an exposition on the globe that will compare with

This is a splendid opportunity for the legislative committee. They will be able to see what has been done and then will fully realize the necessity of Georgia having an exhibit. They should return firm in the opinion that Georgia should and must be represented. When the people of Georgia realize the necessity of an exhibit they will find means of making one.

The State Militia. Georgia favors an increased appropriation for the state militia. Extracts from leading editorials in Georgia newspapers all point to this. The need for a proper maintenance of a militia has been fully demonstrated in these columns from time to time, and it rests with the legislature. which now has the question under consideration, as to whether or not the state soldiery shall be supported in the manner It deserves as a state institution and a it deserved; but it is in the hands of the legislature to give it the meed of its deserts and recognize in a substantial way its faithful services.

A Word About Tomorrow.

Tomorrow will be Thanksgiving Day. Some of our old-timers consider it some what of an innovation. They say that the Puritans started it in Massachusetts about 270 years ago, and that it is not a southern custom.

Suppose we look into it briefly. Eng lishmen belonging to Puritan families settled in the south, as well as in the north, and so did the Huguenots. There were cavallers north of the Potomac, and also south of that river. Recent researches into our history and genealogy show that ours is a badly mixed up race But, to return to Thanksgiving Day. We deny that it is essentially Puritanical. It belongs to all Christians in all Christian lands. If we have been somewhat late in adopting it, that is no reason why we should give it up altogether.

When we think of the blessings shower ed upon us by the Almighty during the past year, every heart should be inclined to make a public expression of our gratitude to the great Giver of all good

No matter where Thanksgiving Day came from, it is ours now, and our warm hearted and réligious people will observe it in a manner suited to the occasion.

They Favor the Home. The Georgia newspapers are almost a unit in their advocacy of the Confederate Home. The objections raised to it are now, as they were when the issue was first made in the legislature, confined to solitary instances; the general sentiment of the people of the state is largely in favor of the establishment and maintenance of the home. In the populous cities, as well as the illages of the state, this sentiment obtains, and the impetus given it by the agitation of last year has been productive of increased interest. One has only to glance over the Georgia exchanges in order to see how widely this interest extends. It seems to be a grateful and patriotic impulse which is moving the peo-

Some Lowndes County, Georgia, Colored Peo-ple Wish to Go to Africa.

Editor Constitution—On the 9th of the pres-ent month the negroes of Lowndes county, one of the extreme southern counties of Geor-gia addressed a letter to United States Com-missioner Erwin, asking for information as to the best way of emigrating to Africa. They stated that they were inexperienced in this business and they were anxious to ob-tain knowledge as to the best way of accem-plishing their object in reaching the sunny shores of Africa. Some of them owned land, would not be at all strange if, in the near fature, there simile be sime of a general exodus of our colored people. In the sariy days, before the war, the African Colonization, Soriety was formed at Washington to aid in sending emancipated slaves to Liberia. One of our great statesmen, Henry Clay, was president of this society, and many a ship load of emancipated slaves were sent out to the republic of l'beria, of which, at hat time. President Roberts, a colored man of great Larning and intelligence, was the chier executive officer.

The deservadants of these early emigrants to Liberia have become a rich and prosperous people. They are industrious and thrify, and during their residence in Liberia they have done much trwards the civilization and Christianizing of Africa. Indeed, it may be brought about by the infinence of our negroes in the south, if they should once determine to make Africa their home, and to emigrate thither.

Of course, the southern people would misster the mate realty in our certon fields, and wherever groes in the south. It they should mine to make Africa their home, and to emigrate thither.

Of course, the southern people would miss them greatly in our cotton fields, and wherever they are employed, but after all, would it be right to detain them in this country, where they are so useful, if they should express a general desire to return to the hand from which they originally came, and where they would become so powerful a factor in the regeneration and civilization of Africa, where our missionaries for a hundred years have as yet accomplished so little.

This may yet become the great problem of our own country and of the whole Christian world, and if the southern people should ever be called up to make the sacrifice and to let these people depart and fulfil their mission in Africa, should we so selfash as to deny that their exodus from the south would no doube be attended with the greatest benefit to themselves and to the people of their color among whom they might settle? The little republic of Liberia would have a charce to become a great and powerful nation and it would extend along the west coast of Africa and into the interior, and could become under God's providence the home of a mighty people.

God's providence the home of a mighty people.

It may be expected, therefore, that now, in our own day, will be the time and the occasion for the African Colonisation, Society at Washington to commence its believed useful and philanthropic work. This Society will undoubtedly be revived and re-organized and fully prenared, not only to give such information as the colored people of Lowndes county are now seeking, but also to aid and assist those who are anxious to emigrate. The godery at this time can_accomplish its cherished object and the attention of billanthropic and benevolent people both north and south will be called to the merits of the cause. For more than a century the great societies for momentum forcism missions, both in the United States and in England, have accomplished but very little in Africa.

Colonization of our colored people upon "Africa's Golden Sand" would solve the problem most effectually and the colored race would have the opportunity to reach that condition of presserity, happoiness, and independence for which they claim they have so long striven in vain and can never realize in the south.

The climate of Liberia is solubrious and the soil is immensely fertile. Our colored people in Liberia could raise coffee, which is easily cultivated and very profitable; sugar cane, which crows naturally from the seed, and besides the greatest variety of fruits and veccables As soon as our colored nopulation show a general desire to emigrate to this new and most important field of Curi-tien missionery usefulness, where they will be both independent and "Monarchs of all they suvey."

THE ROAD CONGRESS.

Professor C. M. Strahan, of the University, Talks.

SOME GOOD RESULTS TO FOLLOW

A Very Interesting Interview from a Prominent Delegate to the Conven-tion-Good Roads to Come.

Professor C. M. Strahan, of the State University, was in Atlanta yesterday on his return from the road congress held in Memphis.

a few days ago.

When asked by a Constitution epresentativ, for an expression of opinion about the bearing of that meeting upon the question of good roads, Professor Strahan said:
"A gratifying growth of interest in the question of good roads has taken place since the congress was held in Atlanta in 1891.
This is shown by the recent formation in Chi. cago of a well organized body under he name of the international league for good road, with such men as Leland Stanford, of California, General Roy Stone of New York, and Philip D. Armour, of Chicago, on its board of directors.

"Not only this, but the press throughout the past year has been very active in spraiding wholesome ideas regarding good roads. None of the great dailies have been more active in wholesome ideas regarding good roads. None of the great dailies have been more active in this work than The Constitution. A further endorsement of the movement is found in the unanimous agreement of all the educators of this country published in the form of letters, in a pamphiet which is issued by Colonel Albent A. Pope, of New York, and which embraces the names of several hundred of the most well known men in this country. "The Memphis congress was inspired by the progress which has been made, and derived a further inspiration from the fact that its meeting was held in Tennessee, where the recent conflict between convict and free labor gave tremendous emphasis to the question of convict labor on public roads.

Nearly Ali Represented.

Nearly Alt Represented. "Nearly All Represented.

"Nearly all of the southern states were represented in the congress, and the National League for Good Roads had its representative in the person of Mr. E. H. Thayer, of Iora. The sessions of the congress were exceedingly harmonious and full of interest. The discussion was guided under the following heads and was heartly participated in by all of the members present:

and was heartily participated in by all of the members present:

1. Heports from the states represented.
2. What classes of roads should be properly included in an effective road system? Are we limited to the use of the macadam road?
3. Under what circumstances should convicts be used upon the public roads?
4. From what source should the means for road laprovement be derived?
5. Is it better for counties to build good roads rapidly under a bounder a build good roads rapidly under a bounder a build good roads and other corporations?

6. Are we to expect opposition from the rail-roads and other corporations?

7. What legislation do we need? Shall the courty be the unit under the local option principle?

What can we do to educate the masses to

What can we do to educate the masses to sense of the importance of good roads? The Cause of the Meeting.

The Cause of the Meeting.

The resolutions which express the sense of this congress bore principally upon three points, the first was in regard to uniting the southern states with the national learne, and therby securing a national organization and a uniform policy. This motion was heartly concurred in by the congress and each member was urged to bring the matter strongly before the people of his own state.

"Second—They further epdorsed, omphatically, the principle of having the work of road improvement done under competent engineering supervision.

improvement uous unity unged the employment ing supervision.
"Third—They heartily unged the employment of the convicts upon the public roads. The of the convicts upon the should be done was that of the convicts upon the public roads. The plan under which this should be done was that each county should work its own misdemeasor convicts, and should receive from the penitentiary its proportionate number of high grade criminals.

"It is highly probable that active steps will be taken in Tennessee to bring about legislation upon the question. The representatives of the state in congress were thoroughly convinced that the double solution of the contice and the road problem could be accomplished by adopting the suggestions of the congress. "The national lengue into which the southern congress has been merged, is an organization with a general president, vice presidents for ach state. At present the vice presidents for the states are the respective governost. "The vice presidents have the power to appoint state directors, one for each million of population, or fraction of a million over one half, with the proviso that one of the directors shall be the president of the state agricults.

"Membership is open to all, and I trust that the neople of Georgin will show their sense of the importance of this movement by a large membership in the league. The present beadquarters are at No. 45 Broad-vay, New York, and in charge of General Roy Stone, secretary."

Professor Strahan was a prominent flure in the congress and is thoroughly posted on all matters pertaining to roads. He was chosen, as has been staed, in our dispatched to deliver an address in response of welcome and it is said made a great hit.

Oates Wants an Extra Session

From The Washington Post.
Congressman Outes, of Alabama, is back for the next session, coming in Saturday night and registering at the Metropolitan. He is naturally feeling very good over the election, and the personal renson of being somewhat elected for the alliance made a most vigorous fightern him. Despite all, the colonel composed and the personal reason of being somewhat clarted for the alliance made a most vigorous fight on him. Despite all, the colonel come back a license, to do as they pleased. The result with a materity of 6,700 behind him, the largest his district ever gave. He is emphatically in favor of an extra session of the fifty-third congress. "In 1888 Mr. Harrison and a republican congress were elected," said Mr. Oates, "and they misconstrued the verdict of the people to mean that they had been given a lincense to do as they pleased. The result was that they began and continued upon the same lines of aggressive legislation that they pursued in reconstruction times. They passed the wast tariff measure ever enacted, taxed the people at large to foster the ship building interest and the manufacture of sugar, carried class legislation to an extreme, and gave bounties and subsidies with a liberal hand. For one, I am a democrat who is opposed to bounties of all kinds, and I will vote to reveal the sugar bounty. What the poor man wants is cheap sugar, and he does not want to be taxed for it. It matters not to him whether the sugar is from the sorpham came of Kansas, or the ribon cane of Cuba.

"In 1890 this republican party was rebuked by the sending to congress of 158 democratic major-ity. To this the party paid no heed, but at Minneapolis endorsed all they had done and declared their intention to adhere to the same lines. The people turned the affairs of the government over to the democrats. To them the democrats had said, 'give us the power; we have not been in authority for thirty years; put upon us the responsibility and we will re-deem the we have not been in authority for thirty put upon us the responsibility and we deem the promises we have made and the evils of the republican policy. The ican people have trusted us and put us er, and if do not meet their expectation years from now we will be on the me bench. Daniels Misses Goal.

Auburn took the ball with the hope of securing at least a couple of touch-downs and started with the wedge, Dorsey carrying the ball forward for a gain of four yards. But in the scrimmage Trinity secures the ball.

In quick succession Grantham gains first five feet then eight yards but Auburn is given the ball on a foul.

The Auburn team began to pick up a little and Lang, the full-back, got around the right end for thirty yards, in good style. Auburn loses the ball on four downs and Bandy breaks the right tackle and gets five yards. Grantham duplicates the perform-done: Imagine a baseball diamond for example. At the home plate where the apex of the wedge should be, stands the quarterback alone with the ball. On first base stands the left guard. Just behind him, with hands on his shoulders, stands the left tackle, left end and left half-back. On

A touch down adds four points and a kicked goal adds two more to the score. A safety, which is made by the hard pressed side when a touch down by their opponents appears imminent, counts two against the side making it.

After a punt-out, or kick, a player of the side making the kick is off until the ball has been touched by a player of the opposing team.

The ball must not be passed towards the goal which the runner is attempting to make and an attempt to make such a play loses the runner's side five yards if the umpire observes the play.

Interfering is an important part of team work and is an absolute adjunct to good playing. In interfering the players have no right to tackle, that to grapple with or grasp the man interfered. The man with the ball is the only person that can be fairly tackled. Clean and quick tackling is desirable in the end men especially.

And then for the first time Trinity bucked the center.

With a quick scramble, a rapid movement into a semi-wedge, and a sudden rush, the Auburn line was tossed aside and Turner made a perfect touch-down, placing the ball directly between the goal posts. To cap the climax Daniels kicked goal making the score 34 to 0 for Trinity.

Auburn formed the "V" again but it was broken open by the Trinity rush line, five yards again for Auburn.

Dorsey was sent around the right end and made twenty-five yards by fast running and quick dodging, Auburn interfering very poorly. Again Dorsey was given the ball and bucked center for a gain of eight yards and then after gaining three yards more lost the ball to Trinity. Trinity then tried the "turtleback" and advanced the ball eight yards, Dorsey getting hurt.

Daniels for the first time fumbled the ball in an attempt to catch a kicked ball and Auburn made her first touch-down. Goal was kicked and the score made 34 to 6.

Time was called before either team could secure any more points.

80MEIHING ABOUT FOOTBALL.

Pointers for Those Unfamiliar with the Technical Points of the Game.

The time of a football game is one hour and thirty minutes of actual play with a rest of ten minutes, making the total time of a game an hour and forty minutes. By a previous agreement between the captains of the team the time of the game can be shortened.

The side or the ball is chosen by the tossing of a coin and the winner takes his preference. Sometimes it may be more advantageous to take the side if the wind is extraordinarily strong as a punt kick will hardly materialize to the profit of the side with the ball if it is against the wind.

The usual start off is with the "V" or a wedge. And in this move especially is a very heavy center rush desir able; the more active that he is the better, too. In the great game between Harvard and Yale some days since, the Harvard eleven introduced a new and an original start off which was cleverly executed to the advantage of forty yards in two attempts. This is how it is r shape than right now. They are composed that he can be seen that the team was the period of the cest set of men ever brought upon a set of the set

Will Be Made Plain at the Home of the Frienless Tomorrow.

On Thursday afternoon, from 3 to 6 o'clock, a reception will be held at the Home for the Friendless, corner of Randolph street and Highland avenue. The hosts and hostesses on this occasion will be the friendless ones—babies, children, young girls and women—who have been so beautifully cared for and sheltered in their lovely new home, which is a gift to them by Atlanta's generous, kindly hearted people. As a building and a beautiful charity all Atlanta is proud of it, but in no heart is there such pride as in those who were friendless and homeless, but who, on this Thanksgiving day, are neither homeless or friendless. So with grateful hearts and much pride they ask the people of the city to come out and see them in their home. There pride they ask the people of the city to come out and see them in their home. There are still many things that are needed in the furnishing to make it so pleasant as it is desired to have it, but it is a happy Christian home, and the ladies feel sure that the generosity of their friends will not let this remain long undone. The guests will be shown the contributions which came in response to a call upon each of the Sunday schools in the city on last Sunday, and also the bags which were distributed among the older people. The Sunday schools responded most nobly and already the industrial room looks very much like a well supplied grocery store.

It is hoped that all persons interested in this work will go out and give the children the pleasure of showing their home. Each one there feels it is their very own home, of which they are both fond and proud. Young girls, friends of the home, will serve the light refreshments and the officers of the home will be there also to add their hearty welcome to the children. Take Highland avenue car to Boulevard. Cars go every fifteen minutes.

A Charming Breakfast Given in Honor

OTHER EVENTS IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

of Mrs. Safford Yesterday.

The Football Season Brings Out All So-ciety in Gay College Colors—An-other Great Game Today.

other Great Game Today.

The Japanese breakfast given by Mrs. William M.Dickson in honor of Mrs. Safford yesterday morning was unique and artistic as the nation from which the pretty ceremony was taken. The arrangement and the furaishing of Mrs. Dickson's mansion is distinctly oriental, and the Japanese tone to the rich rooms were given by superb hangings and draperies brought from the land of the chrysanthemum during her recent visit.

In the circular blue room on the left the sunlight filtered through filmy Japanese curtains superbly embroidered in those impossible things that are possible in Japan. The hallway was rich in its adornment of superboriental carvings and the hangings of the archways were of heavy old rose crepe and rich lace. The front dining room was surpassingly lovely. The walls here were rose and the superb embroidered satin draperies were in the same warm tone. A tall mirror over the mantel was softly festooned with tulle caught here and there with trails of intangible green. There were four large tables, two in each spacious dining room and all of them were adorned in yellow. Chrysanthemums were the flowers appropriately chosen for this feast a-la-Japanese, and these gathered themselves together in bowls and vases, where they looked like clusters of fluffy canaries at night fall.

The round table at which the hostess and her two honored guests were seated was covered with a cloth of eastern lace run through with golden ribbon. Many candles with yellow chrysanthemum shades shed a soft light upon the scene. The favors here were Japanese fans of opaque white crept decorated with delicate painting and embroidery. The favors at the other tables were charming Japanese cards and decorative paintings, and at every plate was a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums tied with ribbons of the same sunny hue.

By the side of each finger bowl was a little object that looked like a tiny bit of white wood. These, upon being dropped into water unfolded themselves magically into exquisite flowers and all sorts of folding doors presented a scene of rich and seductive eastern spendor. Yellow and rose are Japanese colors, warm with the glory of the eastern sun and they found the full interpretation of their beauty in harmonious blending. The air was soft with the scent of sweet woods and rich and spicy with the odor of autumnal flowers. Upon the waves of soft color and fragrance floated the delicious music of stringed instruments, which arose above the low murmer of voices, like far-away bells above the hum of of a summer field. The mandolin and flute mingled their love notes, and then there arose clear and rich, a voice in beautiful song.

And so the luxurious meal passed along until completion; and after the guests had arose and taken their seats in the drawing room, the rose-colored draperies parted and a Japanese maiden, clad in an embroidered kimono of blue and white slik, tied under the arms with a Japanese sash, stepped forth to render a humorous Japanese verse with winning grace and expression. Miss Corinne Stocker was the clever artist who adapted her talents to this part. Her recitation was followed by a Japanese dance in costume, rendered most exquisitely by Miss Janita Bain and Miss Lute Gordon. The two young girls made lovely foils for each other in their blonde and brunette types, for Miss Gordon is as rich in coloring as a jacqueminot, and Miss Bain is like a marguerite. This dance was followed by a recitation of a Japanese song rendered in costume, by Mrs. Hugh Hogan, with the most a marguerite. This dance was followed by a recitation of a Japanese song rendered in costume, by Mrs. Hugh Hogan, with the most bewitching spirit and expression. Too much cannot be said in praise of this song with its delicious mandolin accompaniment. The instrument and voice were as deliciously harmonious as the music of a bulbul and a rivulet. And just how Mrs. Hogan discovered the fascination of the fair "Kokana San," is impossible to put upon paper in cold English. One verse given here seems to show the idea of the piquant song:

One verse given here seems to show the idea of the piquant song:

The hera, hera he, She dances every day In an elegant Kimono and an obi; If you go out to Japan You must see Kohana San, She's the prettiest gelsha girl in Koeb.

The occasion was assuredly an exquisite experience to the honored guests. The hostess, like the Japanese themselves, seems to have taken the choicest arts of entertaining from all nations to make this brilliant occasion, and certainly Mrs Safford can never have received a more elegant and charming compliment to her grace and beauty than the one which was expressed in this Japanese breakfast. The guests were Mrs. Safford, Miss Rumbough, Mrs. Professor White, of Athens, Mrs. Porter, Mrs. H. H. Mrs. William Lawson Peel has issued invitations for an entertamment Friday evening. The affair will be highly artistic and delightful as are all Mrs. Peel's entertainments. It is given in honor of Mr. Robert Pigott, who is a man of many delightful gifts and a charming individuality. Music will be the cheif pleasure of the evening, and Mr. Pigott, Mr. Bohm and Mr. Burbank are among the vocalists who will lend their gifts to the occasion. Mr. Pigott has a delightful baritone voice and his songs are rendered with inimitable dramatic grace and feeling. An artist to his finger tips, and an idealist of the highest order, he is in touch with all the beautiful things in art and literature. He is a musical composer, and has set a number of Frank Stanton's beautiful poems to airs equally as exquisite and sympathetic. As an actor he is far more than clever, and all of his talents have developed amid rare opportunities for their growth nd cultivation. His wife, too, is a gifted artist. She and her two little girls will arrive this week, and the family will make their home in the pretty cottage formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rhett. They will be charming additions to Atlanta society.

Mrs. Henry Smith will give a luncheon on Saturday in honor of Mrs. Safford and Miss Rumbough. Mrs. Smith is a charming woman and a delightful hostess, and the affair is sure to be an exceptionally elegant one.

Dr. and Mrs. Harris will give an elegant entertainment at the Aragon on the 2d of December. Misses Ella and Myrtle Pound, two accomplished young ladies of Jackson, Ga., are in the city visiting Miss Katle Allen on East Mitchell street.

THE NEW YORK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock

Ezchance.

NEW YORK, November 22.—Money loaned at 41-2 per cent throughout the day. Closing rate 4 per cent; lowest 4. Exchange steady, but quiet; posted rates 485.1-2 to 488; actual business in banks' bills at 484.1-2 to 3-4 for sixty days and 487 to 1-4 for demand. Governments quiet; currency 6s, 107.1-2 bid, extended 2s, registered 100.1-4 bid; 4s coupon 114.1-2 bid.

There was very little trading on the stock market during the two hours of business this morning, and dealings were confined to about a dozen speculatives. Notwithstanding the extreme duliness prices were firm throughout, and at noon figures were 1-8 to 2 per cent higher than they closed list night. Chicage and East lilinois led the advance. Dealings were on much larger scale in the last half of the day than during the morning, but the business of the day on the whole was only myderate, total sales amounting to 245,125 chares. Prices were somewhat irregular, but in most cases firm, and the advance of the morning was fully maintained. Chicago and East Illinois recorded the greatest advance closing 2.1-4 per cent higher. Chicago Gas Trust and Sugar Trust were strong, the latter on continued talk of an extra dividend. London was a buyer in a small way today of some of the landing stocks. Advances for the day ranged from 1-8 to 2.1-4 per cent.

J. S. Bache & Co.'s Stock Letter.

By Private Wire to B. W. Martin, Manager.

NEW YORK, November 22.—The market during the morning hours was feverish. Europe did not buy any stocks today, and therefore the traders tried their hand again on the bear side of the market. The short interest in the market, as we have said the last few days, has been really immense and during the early part of the afternoon the larger shorts tried to cover some of them large bulls, but they had difficulty in getting any quantity of stock. Sugar and Whisky led the rally, the former on the rumor that the next dividends would be advanced and the latter on the covering of a line of 5,000 shares. The short interest is said to be very heavy in this stock and manipulation is putting it up in hope of squeezing the shorts. The stock will be advanced until these people cover up, and then it will be a sale as we hardly think it worth the present price. Reading was favorably affected by the rumor that the New Jersey litigation against the combine, which was set down for Friday, will be postponed again, and there was also some talk that an understanding had been reached and that the suits would be probbly settled. We think the short interest will be made to cover to morrow morning and produce a further rally, but unless Europe buys stocks tomorrow gold will go forward on Saturday, and this will probably oring about a reaction again.

Lehman Bros.' Cotton Letter.

By Private Wire to B. W. Martin, Manager.

NEW YORK, November 22—Liverpool this morning gave us another surprise in advancing 6:87-64d, our correspondents cabling us giving the cause as large southern orders to buy, and reports have been received and finding credence that Neill will reduce his estimate to 6:500,000 bales. It was rather a surprise that this latter information should have had the stimulating effect that it apparently has, because it has been rumored here for two days that Neill would reduce his estimate, and a portion of the improvement we have have had earlier this week and on Estarday last may be attributed to that cause. Our market here, in response to the advance abroad, opened about 20622 points higher, of which 10 points were again lost during the day, the market closing barely steady. The decline during the day here is the result of a general desire to realize on purchases, and also owing to the fact that the receipts are showing rather heavier than heretofore. The ports tomorrow are estimated at 45,000 bales, as against 47,000 bales last year, showing 23,000 bales more than for the corresponding five days last week. The paimary points are, comparatively speaking, more liberal—Memphis about 5,000 bales, against 4,000 bales last year, and Augusta 1,400 bales, against 4,000 bales last year, and Augusta 1,400 bales, against 4,000 bales last year, and Augusta 1,400 bales, against 4,000 bales last year, and fine great amount of cotton sold here our market certainly shows great strength, and the position, as we have so frequently written before, does not undergo any weakness whatsoever. The reports of crops continue to come in worse and worse every day, and it now looks as if a erop estimate of below 7,000,000 bales will be generally credited as not extreme. Under the circumstances there is no reason to look for any decided weakness or material decline. At the same time, however, after the very severe advance, it is only natural that we shou

Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter.

Ty Private Why to B. W. Martin, Manager CHICAGO, November 22.—The grain and stock markets seem to be of a holiday character long before the holidays have arrived.
Wheat keeps within a very narrow range, closing at exactly the same figures as yesterday. Notwithstanding the large receipts into the market during the entire areal season the increase has been only 800,000. The amount on passage decreased this week 500,000, which will nearly offset it. Contract' wheat was fully 1-2 cents lower, while lower grades were strong and still held the advance obtained during the past week. There was considerable taken for export in New York and St. Louis and Chicago, probably aggregating quarter of a million, although the exact amount could not be obtained. The very low price through consequent increased consumption and the large exports are the bull features. On the other hand the immense stocks in private/and public elevators, the extensive dullness in the speculative trade, the report, which is not new, however, that Russia has 245,000,000 or 80,000,000 more bushels than one year ago;
also the report that she is offering wheat in Liverpool at very low prices, and some talk about the Hatch bill are the bear features.
The market for cash and sample lots of Corn and Oats was not so good. Prices are fully 1-2 cent lower with no speculative feature.
Outside orders were scarce, local traders not disposed to operate. There appears to have been a great deal of evening up yesterday in hog product. Holders of November lard made large settlements with the shorts and it is quite probable the large trade in the whole line was due to protecting the future contracts by the shorts, who were very much alarmed by the Cudeby Packing Company, who have been long, have evidently taken their profits and seem disposed to permit the now enthusiastic bulls to receive the benefit of any further advance.

RSIDENT OGLESBY, STEVE MOSELEY DEAD

Away at His Home.

BENERAL STEVENSON'S VISIT A WELL-KNOWN YOUNG MAN GONE

He Was a Relative of the Vice President-Elect-His Body Will Be Taken to His Old Home in Virginia.

Steve Moseley is dead. And every Atlantian who reads the an-connement of his death will feel sad inhis parents' home in Richmond, Va., a perfect stranger to all Atlanta. He was then a trained druggist, and it wasn't long before he had secured a good position in one of Atlanta's best drug houses. There he proved his worth and demonstrated the fact that he was worthy of every trust reposed in him. From the very first he became a great favorite with all and in a short time was one of the most popular young men in Atlanta. He took an active part in the organization of the Virginia Society of Atlanta, when the of the Virginia Society of Atlanta, when the society was first suggested and was one of the first vice presidents of it. his acquaintances who might be down.

Mr. Moseley was devoted to the old state and was always happy when talking about the good the Old Dominion had done the world. He was a great reader and was well posted on the history of the old state and the men she had produced. When conversing on this topic he was entertaining to those who heard him in a marked degree. He came from one of the oldest and best families of the state, and has several brothers now living in Virginia. His father was at one time one of the most sought after physicians of Richmond but has been after physicians of Richmond but has been out of practice for several years on account of his advanced age. Telegrams were sent to Mr. Moseley's home immediately after his death, but up to a late hour last night no reply had been received. So far no arrangements have been made for the funeral, but it is well known that his remains will be sent to his old home for intermet.

The Virginia Society will take suitable action this morning on Mr. Moseley's death. President Hamilton Douglas has appointed a special committee of four to watch the remains until some final disposition of the body is made. That committee is composed of Messrs. George J. Bradley, George W. Scoville and W. W. Hayden. With that appointment President Douglass has issued a call for the executive committee of the society and the special committee named to meet this morning in his office, 411 Equitable building. The hour specified for the meeting is 9 o'clock, and at that meeting final arrangements for the funeral, as far as the Virginia Society is concerned, will me made. If the remains are taken to Virginia a committee will be appointed to accompany them.

The Nabobs.

The Boston Globe gave to Henshaw and Ten Broeck the following notice when they visited the "Hub:"

"Henshaw and Ten Broeck in "The Nabobs' drew a big audience to the Grand operahouse. 'No plot, all fun,' was the motto, and from start to finish the audience was kept in roars.

"The Nabobs' is a farce comedy, and as such gives opportunity for graceful dances by pretty girls, grotesque dances by clever men, comic songs and jolly choruses by a variety of vehastile people. There is not a dull moment in it, and granted that it is a little poly, it is none the less on that account a

"In the first act you have a female acadeny, with pupils who may not care much for painting or French, but who can kick higher than a first class in mental philosophy, and give skirt dances that never could be learned from books. Indeed, the work done by the female portion of the 'Nabobsc' company would be a whole show in itself, to say nothing of the excellent performances of John E.
Henshaw and other male members.
"In the second act of this musical absordity a lesson in mythology is taught by means of the seminary girls arrayed as venus, Diana and other classical beauties. There is, moreover, a very good spectacular effect in this act, which imparts a splendid touch to 'The Nabobs.' But the songs of Henshaw, especially that laughable parody on 'Comrades' (come rats), give this act a flavor of the specialty stage, and prove the great hit of the plece.

THE LEGISLATURE.

JUDGE HALL'S AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL What Was Done in the House and Senate Yesterday-Some Important Com-mittee Work.

Higher education seems to be the "go" with the Georgia lawmakers this term.

They seem determined to give the farmer boy a showing at college that has been denied him by the legislature in the past.

A new era seems to be dawning in the state of Georgia in this respect, and sure it is that the Empire State of the South is determined to shake off the stigma of being called the most illiterate state in the union.

All manner of friendliness has been ing called the most illiterate state in the union.

All manner of friendliness has been shown by the legislature to the colleges of the state, and it is now freely promised that the educational institutions of Georgia will no longer be denied that recognition at the hands of the state, that they so richly deserve and so firmly demand.

Colleges, schools, universities—all have the sympathy of the house and senate, and if something is not done bythis legislature to put them on a better financial footing with the other colleges of the south then it does seem that it is a vain hope in Georgia along this line.

Lesterday John I. Hall, of Spalding, introduced a bill in the house providing for the establishment of another agricultural school in the state to be a part of the state university.

The school is to be located in Griffin, and is to be established on the following plan:

The citizens of Griffin agree to give all and is to be established on the following plan:

The citizens of Griffin agree to give all the necessary grounds and to furnish and equip all the necessary buildings needful for the complete organization of the school. The school is to be run in conjunction with the Georgia agricultural experiment station. It is to be controlled by a board of managers, which shall be composed of the president of the state agricultural college, president of me Mercer university, the president of Oxford and three citizens of Spalding county and Griffin, making a membership or seven, whose terms shall last six years.

ship or seven, whose terms shall last six years.

The bill further provides that the school shall be supported by the funds derived annually from the inspection fees on fertilizers and oil. This amount fluctuates from year to year, but will, perhaps, average about $12,000 per year.

Every detail of arrangement is stipulated in the bill and the measure is carefully drawn. There is quite a strong sentiment in favor of the bill in both houses, as it is already evident, and there seems to be no kind of doubt that the bill is to become a law before the session closes.

The Finance Committee.

The Finance Committee The committee on finance is busily at work for the state's big appropriation list and will soon have it all ready to be acted on by the house.

This committee is showing every con

This committee is showing every consideration for the school and colleges of the state, 'and at its meeting yesterday agreed to allow the Dalonega branch college $5.000 per year for the next two years. It will be remembered that the last legislature struck all the branch colleges from the appropriation list.

The committee has not yet reached any of the branch colleges but Dahlonega, and puts it back on the list. This may be due to the fact that the contract with the state when the agricultural college was first establish stated that the institution at Dahlonega should be kep up by the state.

A Railroad Inspector.

A Railroad Inspector.

One of the most conspicuous bills that fell upon the clerk's desk yesterday was by Mr. King, of Fulton, and is a bill to have a Mr. King, of Fulton, and railroad inspector appointed for the state. It shall be the duty of this railroad inspector to take a trip over the various lines in the state from year to year at least once during the year and see that all bridges, tres-

(3) ing the year and see that all bridges, trestles and roadbeds, as well as rolling stock, are kept by the woads in proper shape. He shall make a report to the state railroad commission when he finds the roads out of condition and the commission shall at once notify the road in question of the feport and demand that the defects be supplied and the terms of the law complied with to the letter.

To Revise the Laws.

Many attempts have been made in this and previous legislatures to secure a revision of the laws of the state as they appear lawyers all the time to keep up with the laws as they are.

Yesterday Mr. Fleming, of Richmond, offered a joint resolution looking to this same end. It provides for the appointment of a committee by the governor to revise the penal laws of Georgia and to have them printed and rearranged in a shapely style.

Mr. Calvin's Resolution.

Mr. Calvin's Resolution.

Mr. Calvin, of Richmond, also put in a resolution on this line, it being to have the state's tax laws revised and straightened.

The objects in view by Mr. Calvin are recited in the whereas clause of his resolution, and they read as follows:

"Whereas, Most of the tax laws of this were enacted state were enacted many years ago under conditions which have been entirely changed; and

"Whereas, Said laws have been passed, from year to year, without proper regard to previous legislation and are, therefore, oft-times conflicting and difficult of construction; and "Whereas, It is of "Whereas, It is of "yital importance to all our people that

"Whereas, It is of "who will importance to all our people that our tax system, in its entirety, should be carefully studied and thoroughly revised and consolidated in order that the said system be greatly simplified: the sources of the state's revenue be definitely known; and the revenue itself be largely increased."

For First Reading.

Th following new bills went in for a first reading yesterday in the house:

Mr. Mershon of Glynn—A bill to establish a city court for the city of Brunswick.

Mr. Battle of Muscogee—A bill to regulate the punishment of misdemeanors not invalving moral turning. late the punishment of misdemeanors not involving moral turpitude.

from the ad valorem tax for these purposes, however.

Also a bill to require deposits for costs by non-resident plaintiffs, in justice courts of this state.

Mr. Pike of Jackson—A bill to repeal the law establishing local courts in the cities having 1.500 or more inhabitants, etc.

Mr. Mozley of Cobb—A bill to establish schools for the city of Marietta, by amending the present laws bearing on that line, so as to have increased bonds issued for funds.

Mr. Harrison of Twiggs—To stipulate in what public fournal legal work for counties shall be advertised, requiring that these "ads" be given to the paper having the largest bona fide subscription list.

Also, a resolution to have the thirty-eight widows who were denied pensions last year because the funds didn't hold out, paid up by special appropriation of $3,300.

Mr. Perkins of Habersham—A bill to amend section 3893, 3894 and 3899 of the code.

Mr. Osborne of Chatham—A bill to provide for the notice of judgment and other liens.

Mr. Neel of Floyd—A bill to anow the state school commissioners to reduce the school funds in such counties as may have a surplus on hond.

Mr. Walton of Stewart—A bill to relieve W. W. Wood, a disabled confederate veteran who was taxed for running a pool table by mistake.

To Parden Gonvicts.

To Parden Gonvicts.

Mr. Tatum of Dade, has started the ball for the establishment of a board of pardons in the state.

He introduced a bill yesterday the purpose of which is to form such a board out of the house and senate committee on penitentiary. It shall be their duty to investigate the applications for pardon when submitted by prisoners, and to make a report to the governor whether he should be pardoned or not. This bill, however, does not conflict with the governor's power to pardon.

The Senate.

Senator Corput introduced a bill yesterday to authorize commissioners of roads and revenues to bid on property sold under tax fi fas. In some counties it happens that property owners who are solvent refuse to pay their taxes, and when their property is duly put up for sale, possible bidders are induced not to bid. The result is that it is impossible to collect the taxes. In Floyd county this year, the insolvent taxes amounted to over $1,800 and the grand furr recommends such a law as Senator Corput's bill contemplates. The commissioners are only to buy property when there are no other bidders, and they are not to bid more than the amount of the fi fas and costs.

President Clay introduced two bills. One amends sub-section (f) of an act to repeal paragraph I of section 3854 of the code, so that the same shall read when amended as follows:

"In all cases where the personal representative of the deceased or insane party, has introduced as a witness a person or agent of a person who is in any way interested in the event of the result, or who has so interested at any time he may have testified in said suit, who has testified in reference to any verbal contract or agreement which is by that suit sought to be made, binding on or in any way operating against the surriving or sane party or parties, or either of them, or who has testified as to transactions or communications on the part of the surviving agent or party with a deceased or insane party or agent, the surviving party or his agent may be examined in reference to such facts testified to by said witness, or in reference to such contract or agreement or any matter whatever relating to or bearing on the exintence, non-existence, effect or terms of such contract or agreement."

President Clay offered another bill to enable the payees, holders or owners of promissory notes or other debts for money secured by a deed or mortgage to recover judgment.

THEY VISIT THE HOME. Two Passenger Coaches Filled with Members of the Legislature. Two passenger coaches, packed with members of the general assembly and also the Confederate Veteran's Association of Fulton county, pulled out from the heart of the city yesterday afternoon.

The objective point of the trip was the soldier's home, and after a run of twenty minutes the engine slowed up in front of the building as it loomed up over the tree

Colonel W. L. Calhoun, as the president of the board of trustees had extended the day before to both branches of the legislature a cordial invitation to visit the home, and a sufficient number of coaches was placed at their disposal to convey them to

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, there were as many perhaps as 125 members of the general assembly in waiting to board The number was increased by a large delegation from the Confederate Veteran's legislature more than filled the two large coaches. The members chatted pleasantly on their way and many amusing war stories were elated during the trip. Dr. J. William Jones, with his wit and humor and his red hot rebelism, entertained the crowd in his immediate neighborhood and kept them in a lively humor until they reached the home.

reached the home.

Arriving at the grounds the crowd fell out of the train and began to scramble like school boys in the direction of the building. It was a treat to the legislature apart from the object and purpose of the trip, to get out in the open air and snuff the aroma around Atlanta.

They were told by Colonel Calhoun that they were treading on "dark and bloody grounds" for within that neighborhood was fought the terrible battle of the 22nd of July.

Just over the way apiece, General Mc-Pherson, the federal commander had fallen from his hotse, and a large heavy cannon posted upright marked the spot on which he was killed. he was killed.

he fell had never been fixed with any definite decision.

The doors of the building were thrown open to the legislators and every apartment of the home was carefully inspected.

There was nothing formal about the examination and everything like ceremony waved throughout the entire visit.

Questions in regard to the building were very freely asked and very cheerfully answered.

Among the number of visitors were several representatives and senators who were known to be antagonistic to the bill, and who, although they claimed to be the friends and sympathizers of the old confederate vecrans, doubted the policy of such a measure, or its likelihood of accomplishing the results that were contemplated by its advocates.

The tour of the buildings and the grounds adjacent lasted for about an hour. After the examination was completed it was found that several minutes were to be employed before the arrival of the train.

Accordingly a speech from Colonel ployed before the arrival of the train.
Accordingly a speech from Colonel Loundes Calhoun was called for and that veteran soldier, who has been the friend and champion of the home since the enterprise was started, responded in his usual ready and eloquent style. He referred to the purpose and object of the home, the need which existed for its erection and the faithful work of the board of trustees in behalf of the property. It was a strong and manly plea and came from a heart that was thoroughly in earnest. It was so regarded Judge cathoun was followed by Dr. J. William Jones, who spoke of the action of other states that had liberally provided homes for the old soldiers. The speech was very pleasantly received.

It was nearly dark when the party returned to the city.

The bill for the acceptance of the soldiers' home has been made the special order for the day and the galleries no doubt will be crowded with citizens to hear the discussion in the house.

As to the Quality of Oil.

Department of Agriculture, Atlanta, Ga., November 22, 1892.—Editor Constitution: In view of the large number of complaints made to the department of agriculture as to the pool burning quality of oil sold in some parts of the state, permit me to say, for the benefit of those desiring information on the subject that the inspections made under the supervision of the department apply only to the fire test. When the test is satisfactory and it is ascertained that the oil is not of such an explosive character as to prohibit it being placed upon the market, the authority of the department ceases. Complaints made to the oil companies have in several instances met with a prompt response. In this regard we are willing to aid the public; for unless legislative action should be deemed advisable competition and complaint must be relied upon to correct the evil. The inferior quality of the oil, it should be said, is due to fault in the refining process, which in no way prevents it from coming up to the state's standard as to fire test. R. T. NESBITT.

Peculiar Eruption

All Over His Little Body. Pain Night Day. Best Doctors Baffled. Miracu lous Cure by Cuticura.

Day. Best Doctors Eaffied. Miraculous Cure by Cuticura.

Your Cuticura Remedies performed such a miraculous cure upon hy baby, that I would deem myself selfish and un-Christian-like were I not willing to give public expression to my gratitude. About thirteen months ago he was suddenly taken with peculiar eruption, which broke out all over his little body, and became so pathful that he was aimost unmanageable. Was in continual pain night and day, and, as the disease advanced, it became offensive, and it looked like my precious baby was going to decay in spite of all that a couple of the very best physicians could do. I was persuaded to try Cuticura Remedies. I followed directions. The first week the pain was greatly reduced, and my baby was able to rest. The second week a decided change for the better, and I began to realize that my baby was going to live, the eruption began to dry, his appetite returned, his skin became a natural color, and in nine weeks from the time he began the treatment, he was as well as he ever was, with a brighter skin, a good appetite, and a keen eye to get fato all the mischief he could. It is now over eleven months since my baby was cured by Cuticura, and there is not nor has not been the slightest appearance of its return, and my boy grows brighter and stronger every day.

MRS. ROLAND COMB, Allsey P. O., Ga.

I hereby certify that the contents of Mrs. Comb's testimonial are facts, and I consider the cure a very miraculous one. When I recommended the Cuticura Remedies I had very little idea that the child would live. I shall be glad to answer any inquiries about the cure.

REV. J. G. AHERN, Cochran, Ga.

THE ATLANTA OF THE WEST.

More Than a Dosen Vast and Costly Buildings to Be Inspected attthe Exposition Grounds.

It is with something of that feeling which cossesses holders of lottery tickets at a grand prize drawing, that the senators waited vesterday morning for President Clayton to announce the committee which is to start to Chicago today to see the world's fair. It was a prize worth drawing, and only ten stood to win while there were bound to be thirty-four blanks. The lucky ten are Senator Wilson, of the eleventh, chairman; Senators Scaiffe, Daly, Blalock, Gholston, Smith, of the thirty-fourth; Robchairman; Senatoris, the thirty-fourth; Rob-Gholston, Smith, of the thirty-fourth; Rob-Inson, Pope and Edwards. This is a strong and influential committee and their report will carry weight whichever way it goes. The house will be ably represented by Speaker Atkinson and the following members: Hill, of Wilkes; Latham, Turner, Camp, Charters, Trammell, Morton, Walton, Osborne, Boyd, McBride, Roddenbery, Brady, Johnson, of Fulton; Bennett, Ashburn, Thomson, of Madison: Sinquefield, Smith, of Gwinnett, and Mitchell.

Governor Northen and a party of news-

Governor Northen and a party of newspaper men complete this delegation. It is well understood that this is a purely business trip. But dispite this, there are many who are willing to sacrifice themselves and go along. Colonel Wrenn, general passenger agent of the East Tennessee, has had enough applications to fill a whole train with passengers. Indeed, if the trip was postponed a few days, there would be more applications than the exposition grounds would accommodate. Nobody in the world enjoys giving a free ride to the boys better than Colonel Wrenn, but he says there is too much at stake this time to make this sim-ply a pleasure trip. His purpose is to get up such an interest in the fair among Georgians that the state will surely be sented at Chicago. And be believes that a committee of forty will get around more quickly and see more in the little time at their disposal than a big excursion party

The legislators and correspond take the East Tennessee train at the union depot at 1:30 o'clock p. m. Governor Northen and Speaker Atkinson will share a private car with Colonel Wrenn. A deeper will be placed at the disposal of the legislators and the newspaper men will be accommodated in still another sleeper. Chattanooga will be reached about dark and Cincinnati tomorrow morning and Chicago about 5:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The party will stop at the Auditorium. There is a general desire to spend two days in Chicago and this will be done, in which event the party will reach Atlanta on their return Sunday night or Monday morning. The ride through the mountains of Tennessee will be by night going and by day on the return trip.

FALLING TO PIECES.

The Home of Georgia's Governors Is in a Terrible Plight.

Northen entertained committee yesterday the members through executive mansion. They found the building in a bad fix. It is sadly in need of repairs and if anything is done it should be a throrough overhauling. Patching would be money thrown away. The com would be money thrown away. The committee came to the conclusion that the mansion should either be put in complete order or nothing at all should be done and in a little while the place will fall to pieces. This is no exageration but is vouched for by Messrs. Guerrard, Sears, Boifeuilelet, Neel. Charters and Ham, the legislators who made the inspection.

The roof is leaky, the walls are dark and dingy. the furniture is that which was made the inspection.

The roof is leaky, the walls are dark and dingy, the furniture is that which was brought from Milladgeville when the capital was moved. This furniture has been mended and repaired until it is discreditable. Something should be done quickly if the mansion is to be preserved. Next month when General Stevenson comes to Atlanta the governor proposes to give a reception to him and the legislature and of course he does not care to have to rent a house for the occasion. The mansion in its present condition would not reflect credit on the state, and the legislators would be mortified to have the vice president elect see this evidence of apparent indiligence.

There are a few pictures which General Gordon allowed to remain. If he were to remove them the walls would be bare and more unsightly than they are. The mansion is rapidly falling into a dilapidated state and if not speedily overhauled will be a total loss to the state.

The special committee will recommend a thorough repairing of the building.

It is not necessary to call a doctor for a cut or bruise; get Salvation Oil. Only 25 cts.

The Imperial Art Studio Writes to th Atlanta Police Branding Them as Frauds - Looking Into It.

To the many people of this town, who have paid money to alledged agents of the Imperial Art Studio, of 405 E. Broadway,

"Your money's gone. The picture that you are looking for will never come."
The agents that you paid your money to were not agents at all; they were humbugs of the deepest dyed type; you have been duped. But you are not alone; there's lots of people in Atlanta who have been ed as well as yourself.

To this very comforting message may be added the statement that the police are looking with all their eyes for the scamp who swindled you.

Here's the story for those who have not been victimized, and who know nothing of the wicked ways of these alleged representatives of a well known New York

For several months past, a half dozen slick tongued young men have been going about to residences in Atlanta soliciting orders to enlarge family pictures. They represented that they were agents of the Imperial Art Studio, of 405 E. Broadway, New York. Their terms were reasonable and they guaranteed good work. They got many orders, and sent to New York for enlargement, many prized pictures, first collecting a good part of the amount to be paid for the work. These clever agents showed samples of their work, which reflected great credit on the Imperial Art Studio, of New York, and their victims confidently expected to get handsome pictures. But the time which the agents fixed for the pictures to arrive came, passed, and For several months past, a half dozen But the time which the agents fixed for the pictures to arrive came, passed, and the looked for pictures never came. Many anxious letters were sent to the New York firm, inquiring why the pictures which they sent for eniargement some time ago, and which were to have been ready some time ago, had not come.

Time went on but not a picture came. Finally a complaint was lodged with Chief Connolly. The police were unable to locate any of the bogus agents, and the work went on.

Yesterday the following letter was received at police headquarters:
Chief of Police—Dear Sir: We have received within the last month, letters from various persons of your town, requesting us to notiry the whereabouts of their respective pictures, which are supposed to have been given to one of our agents, and as we have never issued any such ticket, you are informed that we have never sent an agent to your town, and that your citzens are being victimized by a fraud. Very respectfully yours, Yesterday the following letter was re-

WASHINGTON CITY

INAUGURATION

President Cleveland

The Inauguration of President Cleverand on the 4th of March next will be

One of the Grandest Events

in the history of America. It will be the beginning of a new era of prosperity such as this country has never seen, especially in the south and west.

Thousands of people from all parts of the United States will be there, and every good democrat and lover of free government in the south, that can possibly do so, should go. We know there are thousands of persons in Georgia alone that would like to go, but do not feel able. But that need not keep any one from going, as we have a plan that will enable every one that can lay aside $2 or $3 a week from now until March to go, and, in addition, secure the most modern and complete encyclopedia published.

In order to advertise our encyclopedia and, if possible, to place it in at least 1,000 homes in Georgia by Christmas, we will give every person purchasing a set of the in the home. You know that as well as we do, and we feel sure every one that contemplates going to Washington will appreciate the great liberality of our offer and take advantage of it.

No rate has yet been announced by the Southern Passenger Association for the occasion, but all of the passenger agents of the different roads that we have talked with say the rate will not be less than one fare ($17.50) for the round trip, possibly a little more; but that will not affect subscribers, as we will furnish the and let subscribers pay the balance at the rate of $3 a week, and as soon as the sum of $25 has been paid in we will give them an order that will entitle them to a ticket when the time comes to go.

Every one is cordially invited to call at our office, 80 Marietta street, just above the old capitol, and examine the work for themselves and get full particulars.

We will take pleasure in mailing sample pages and descriptive circulars to any one that will send us their name and address.

Hebrews, Cathoics, colored people and many unprofessing Christians were there to attest their common brotherhood by paying their sincere whose of respect to one whose life was malle and who typified the noblest and most salted traits of character. A Beautiful Offering.

Among the many beautiful offerings which dorned the casket and which seemed to ne cold embrace of death was a handsome siver plate from Mr. J. M. Alexander. The name of "Harmsen" was engraved upon and underneath it was the beautiful quoation, "I carry my own sunshine with me." Surrounding the inscription was a wreath nature's violets—the exquisite emblems his own life, modest, unassuming and alrays giving out the fragrance of his Chris-tan hope and character hope and character.

The pulpit was beautifully covered with signs, while the casket was almost tely obscured by the snow white em-

AND GIVES PLANS FOR IMPROVEMENT.

Establish a Schoolhouse in the Center of Every Five Square Miles in the State—As to the Teachers.

Mr. W. H. Woodall, superintendent of he Columbus public schools, in in the city. Knowing him to be the author of the county institute bill, which was passed by the last legislature, and has given such general satisfaction all over the state, a re porter of The Constitution called on him for his views as to the condition and needs of the public schools of the state at this

The Needs of the Public Schools. Said he, "our public schools are in a flourishing condition and have been for several years, but our county schools have been in a lamentable condition ever since the war. But I think that their long night of darkness is now breaking. Our last legisla-ture was very kind to the common school interest of the county, and the present legis-lature seems to be as well disposed as their predecessors were, and will, no doubt, prove it in their appropriations to the public schools. There seems to be a disposition that is general among the members of the legislature to give the common county schools every dollar possible.

"Now, in my judgment, the next thing for

"Now, in my judgment, the next thing for our state to do is to lay off every county into school districts, say about five miles square, and place a schoolhouse in the middle of each district. Of course, we can't place a schoolhouse in every district at onece but as communities need school buildings, place these buildings in the right place. I hear that such a bill will, perhaps, be offered in the legislature in a few days and if it is offered, I hope it will pass.

if it is offered, I hope it will pass.

"Where to Get the Money.

"Where would you get the money?"

"Raise it by local taxation. The building of schoolhouses would be a good investment to the property owners living within such districts, and the tax would have to be paid only once in a life time. Old schoolhouses now in use, could in many cases be moved to the middle of such districts. This plan followed for ten years would give us a state well supplied with good schoolhouses. Better schoolhouses in an absolute necessity in our state.

Next the teachers should be paid month-

"Next, the teachers should be paid monthly or quarterly at least. As a class, the teachers need their money and ought to have it, and I believe the present legislature is going to pay them at least quarterly. The teachers have been waiting for twenty years and getting their money last. It is time for some one else to wait if somebody must wait.

"Building good schoolhouses, paying teachers good salarier promptly, ought to secure good teachers. While I honor the members of my profession, yet it must be admitted that there are in our ranks still a great many incompetent persons. People, driven into our ranks by poverty and kinddred causes are not prepared to teach school."

As to the Teachers.

"For this there is one remedy. No one "For this there is one remedy. No one can teach in our common schools without being examined and licensed. Let the questions in which the applicants are examined be made more difficult. We have been crawling in this particular long enough. Let us stand erect and walk. A halt should be made now, for the state is fast filling up with teachers who are receiving state licenses on the very easy questions sent out by each county commissioner to test the knowledge of those wishing to become teachers.

SOME CHANGES

That Will Be Made in the Grady Hospital Management December 1st.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT TO BE INSTALLED

Dr. T. F. Brewster Selected as the New Superintendent-Dr. Nolan Will Be Head of the House Staff. When the board of trustees of the Grady hospital hold their regular monthly meeting next Tuesday they will make some impor tant changes in the management of that institution, and will supply the vacancies now

The retirement of Superintendent Fensch, a month ago, left the hospital without an executive officer. The retirement of Dr. Gill, head house physician, left that position Dr. C. J. George, one of the house staff, was temporarily put in charge of the hospital to succeed Dr. Fensch, and during the present month has very acceptably filled the position of superintendent. Dr. Gill consented to remain at the hospital until December 1st, when it is understood that his successor would be installed.

The board has not been hasty in making its relation of a superintendent and head its selection of a superintendent and head house physician, realizing the importance of having first-class men at the helm. A other thing to be greatly desired was harmony among the physicians and employes of the hospital. The board and President Hirsch determined to go slowly and secure a harmonious management. Two or three applications for Dr. Fensch's place were applications for Dr. Fensch's place were sent in. Yesterday the medical staff met and agreed upon Dr. Tomlinson F. Brewster as Dr. Fensch's successor. This nomination will go before the trustees at their meeting next Tuesday for ratification. It will, without doubt, be ratified, and Dr. Brewster will be the next superintendent of that institution. On December 1st he will be installed as head executive officer of the hospital.

Dr. Nolan will become head of the house staff on that date. He has been connected with the hospital in the capacity of house physician since it opened in June, and was selected as Dr. Gill's successor by reason of priority of service. Dr. George will continue at the hospital next in rank to Dr. Nolan.

Nolan.

The vacancy caused by Dr. Nolan's promotion will be filled by Dr. W. F. Cox, a recent graduate of the Southern Medical college. He is said to be a promising young physician. His home is at Madison, Ga.

With this bright and competent corps of physicians the future looks bright for Atlants's pet institution.

The trustees meet Tuesday to receive Dr. George's report of the month's work, and to transact other business.

In literary Boston we have one more elaborate building devoted to literature and art. The Youth's Companion, known for at least three generations, has just moved into its spacious home. It is perhaps the largest newspaper establishment in the world.

largest newspaper establishment in the world.

The stately structure, covering a halfacre of ground, is of red sandstone and buff brick, built in a style of masterly simplicity consistent with its size, but its Romanesque arches, its graceful lines, and its warmth of color relieves it from any severity. Every room and appointment in this spacious establishment was especially adapted for its occupant.

To produce The Companion's regular weekly edition of 600,000 copies requires every modern convenience and improvement. The weight of paper alone is enormous; not less than forty-six tons of white paper is required each week. To print this paper there are needed fourteen presses; of these six are the wonderful Cottrell presses, which seem almost human. Each can print 128 Companions a minute. The whole fourteen producing 300,000 eightpage papers a day.

Space will hardly permit a description of the department in detail, but any reader who is interested can obtain by mail a copy of the souvenir of The Companion, colors, forty-two pages, describing the new building in all its departments.

Mrs. Alice Smith Makes a Plunge for Mrs. Olive,

WILD SCENES IN THE COURTROOM

Mrs. Smith, Who Was So Badly Disfigur ed by the Vitriol Which Was Thrown Int Her Face Fails to Get a Verdict.

"I'll kill her! She's guilty!"
That was the exclamation that came from the lips of Mrs. Alice Smith yesterday afternoon in the city courtroom. It came with a shriek that penetrated every part of the building and was accompanied by a look of mortal agony.

She started from her chair as the words ran out of her lips like the burning lava from some heaving volcano and, reaching for her umbrella, darted with the sp lightning in the direction of Mrs. Julia down came the umbrella like a rain of bul-lets upon the unprotected head of the vic-

The woman was frantic with rage. Her anger overpowered her. She had heard the verdict of the jury and that verdict had declared Mrs. Olive innocent. The memory of the past rushed over her like a tidal wave and she saw in a hasty glance the bottle of vitriol and her own blighted beauty. The law had failed her and the spirit of retalia tion was thoroughly aroused. It was a sud den upheaval of passion that made her grab for the umbrella—it was the only weapon in sight—and with that she made a plunge

In sight—and with that she made a plunge for her victim.

The verdict of the jury was: "We, the jury, find the defendant not guilty."

No sooner was that verdict rendered than the scene as above narrated took place.

It took the judge and the jury by surprise, and the courtroom was converted into

Never in the history of the Fulton county courthouse has such an exciting drama occurred. It was branded upon the memory of every one present and stamped in such indelible characters that nothing can ever erase it.

Shakespeare was nodding when he said that "a woman moved was like a fountain troubled."

It was worse than any fountain—it was a cataract in petticonts—it was a human-jud ovelane.

a ctaract in petticoats—it was a humanized cyclone.

Judge Westmoreland sat back in his chair—clamped with astonishment. He glared through his spectacles with a look of suspended animation and several ticks of the clock intervened before his lips asserted their sway over the art of speech.

"Mr. Sheriff," came the voice of the judge—but the sound was lost like the cry of the captain amid the splash of the waves. The sheriff knew his duty, however, and when he saw Mrs. Smith leap up from her chair and start for Mrs. Olive, he ran to her rescue. Several chairs were in the way, however, and before he could arrest the umbrella it had fallen several times upon the head of Mrs. Olive.

Finally her anger was checkmated by the interference of the officers and muscular force was brought to bear upon her in order to subdue her tempest of rage.

der to subdue her tempest of rage.

Order was soon restored and under a careful vigilance Mrs. Smith, together with her mother, departed from the room, and Mrs. Olive was permitted to enjoy her lib-

Mrs. Onve was permaner.

Sympathy was manifested on every hand for Mrs. Smith who, though her own life had been in no danger, had suffered the unhappy distiguration which nothing could ever remove, and failing to secure that satisfaction which she fancied she could get before a jury, she thought she was entitled to the deepest sympathy of every one present.

titled to the deepest sympathy of every one present.

It was a scene that was full of sorrow and the second thought of every one present, while it went out in congratulation to the acquitted woman, went out in the tenderest sympathy toward the afflicted prosecuter and the poor deformed mother.

The jury was out for only a short while before the verdict was returned.

Mr. W. C. Glenn concluded the argument before the jury in favor of Mrs. Olive. It was a masterly defense, and in spite of the fervid protest of the eloquent solicitor, who insisted upon her guilt, it had the desired effect upon the jury. The last speech is always a strong weapon and in order to get the closing argument no evidence was introduced for the defense and only the statement of Mrs. Olive, together with such additional facts as could be extracted from the witnesses for the prosecution was allowed to go before the jury to make out her justification.

It was early in the afternoon when the judge completed his charge to the jury, and placed in their hands the fate of the prisoner at the bar.

Details of the Tripl.

The trial of Julia Olive for assault upon Alice Smith with intent to murder, was commenced before Judge Westmoreland, in the criminal branch of the city court, yesthe criminal branch of the day county ferrory morning.

Everybody in Atlanta is familiar with the details of that heart-tragedy, which occurred on the 29th of last July.

A wife deserted by her husband and goaled to desperation, as she claims, by the knowledge that he was harbored by another woman.

goaled to desperation, as she claims, by the knowledge that he was harbored by another woman.

Then the difficulty which ensued between the broken-hearted wife and the alleged decoyer of her husband. The infant in her arms—a link that still bound her to her husband in spite of his desertion, and then the fiery liquid that was thrown into the woman's face to blight the look which had lured her husband from her love, and to blast that fatal charm of beauty.

Mrs. Olive was accompanied by her infant, and maintained throughout the trial a calm and lady-like deportmen. She was scarcely able, however, to hide her sorrows by any artificial effort and in spite of her attempt to appear composed she manifested that uneasy feeling that originated from a troubled heart and that was plainly visible in the pained expression of her face.

Mrs. Alice Smith, the victim of the tragic difficulty, also occupied a seat in the neighborhood of Mr. Thomas. She wore a pair of glasses and her face, disfigured by the vitriol which was thrown into it, retained but little vestige of that charm which was supposed to underlie the scene which was then being enacted before the jury. The mother of the woman, a poor pathetic-looking, little hunchback, was also present, and these together with the other witnesses completed the unhappy scene.

It was full of pathos and may be fairly painted by the letter "d"—desertion, despair, disfiguration and deformity.

The attorneys interested in the trial were Solicitor Thomas, for the state; and Colonel W. C. Glenn and L. P. Barnes for the defendant.

Mrs. Smith, the prosecutor in the case,

W. C. Glenn and L. P. Barnes for the defendant.

Mrs. Smith, the prosecutor in the case, was the first witness to testify.

She related her account of the difficulty, which is already familiar to the public, and endeavored to show that Mrs. Olive had no justification whatever in throwing the vitriol into her face. She had not beguiled Mr. Olive away from her and was innocent of any wrong.

The theory of the defense was to show that Mrs. Smith had estranged from Mrs. Olive the affections of her husband, and the latter, under the influence of her rage, was emporarily insane.

Her statement was introduced in corroboration of this view of the case, which prevailed upon the jury, and resulted in a verdict of not guilty.
